J. C. HELM MAY BE CHOSEN SECRETARY OF INTERIOR

Former Springs Man Being Considered By Taft, Says Report.

HAS MANY FRIENDS HERE

Was Judge of Fourth District Several Years Ago and Later State Supreme Justice.

Joseph Church Helm, an early pioneer, and for many years a resident of Colorado Springs, and formerly judge of the Fourth judicial district, including this county, is being considered by President-elect Taft for the cabinet office of secretary of the interior, according to reports from Denver and Washington. He is a brother-in-law of Miss Stewart, who lives at Bemis Hall, Colorado College. Mr. Helm, who has lived in Denver since he left here several years ago, was twice elected and once appointed justice of the state supreme court. He was defeated for governor several years ago, and was also beaten for justice of the supreme court at the general election last November.

Chairman F. H. Hitchcock, United States Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho, A. M. Stevenson of Colorado and other members of the Republican national committee recently conferred with Mr. Taft, and are reported as having strongly urged the President-elect to appoint Judge Helm.

Prominent in Colorado.

Mr. Helm is 60 years old. He came to Colorado Springs from Iowa in 1876 and in the early '80's obtained extensive local real estate interests. He was elected district judge of the Fourth judicial district, resigning in 1882 to accept a 10-year term as state supreme justice. He was re-elected in 1892, but resigned afterward to become a candidate on the Republican ticket for governor. Carried to victory on the wave of Populism which pervaded this state, Davis H. Waite defeated Helm, who retired to private life until his appointment as supreme judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Caswell about a year ago. His term expired January 12 of this year, and he was a candidate on the Republican ticket for re-election, being defeated by his Democratic opponent.

An Important Department.

There is probably no department of the government in which Colorado has a more direct material interest than that of the interior, controlling, as it does, lands and mines, the Indian policy of the government, and many other matters of vital interest to this state and all this vast section of the country. It was considerations such as these which induced President Arthur to choose Henry M. Teller for his secretary of the interior. And considerations such as these, combined with Mr. Helm's ability, as well as his intimate knowledge of Colorado and the entire west, are points strongly in his favor. Mr. Helm has a host of close friends in Colorado Springs who would be immensely pleased to see him thus honored by Mr. Taft.

JOSEPH CHURCH HELM,
Former Colorado Springs Man and Ex-Justice of the Supreme Court, Who May Be Appointed Secretary of the Interior by Taft.

VINDICATOR COMPANY ISSUES ITS REPORT

SENDS OUT STATEMENT WITH DIVIDEND CHECKS.

Net Mining Profit for Year Was $198,155—Property Has Bright Future.

Accompanying the regular quarterly 5-cent dividend of the Vindicator Consolidated Gold Mining company, the management yesterday issued a report for the year. The dividends this quarter amount to $45,000. A total of $225,000 was paid out in dividends last year and a grand total of $1,950,000 has been disbursed to stockholders to date.

The total company shipments last year aggregated 17,969 tons, and the total shipments by lessees 15,066 tons, making a total production of 33,035 tons for the year. The assay value was $941,642.05, but the freight and treatment charges amounted to $230,895.85, leaving net ore receipts of $711,749.17. Mine expenses were $352,026.12, and lessees were paid $161,587.50, leaving a net mining profit of $195,155.55. Minor receipts of $12,591.29 came in during the year, and the cash balance on hand January 1, 1908, was $121,782.92.

Good Cash Balance.

Among the principal expenditures, outside of the freight, treatment and operating expenses, as above, were $225,000 in dividends and $28,775.25 for equipment, securities, and drainage tunnel subscription. The cash balance on hand January 1, 1909, was $78,814.15.

The development work in the property last year amounted to 10,635 feet, or more than two miles. The total development work to date exceeds 25½ miles.

Of particular interest is the statement that the water in the surrounding territory has been pumped out to the 1,200-foot level of the Vindicator property and that the management expects to handle considerable water between the 1,200 and 1,400-foot levels. When this section is drained and the ore bodies in the 1,300 and 1,400-foot levels opened up, the earnings will be increased to the old standard, according to the expectations of the management. The company is officered by the following Denver men: P. L. Stahl, president, G. S. Wood, vice president and treasurer, and F. J. Campbell, secretary and manager.

CUBAN PARTY LINES ARE VERY EASILY FORGOTTEN

The Goat Is National Emblem of Political Success and Graft.

TRADITION IS UNKNOWN

Both Parties Deal In Glittering Generalities But no Set Principles.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

XIV. Political Parties in Cuba.

HAVANA, Jan. 26.—If the American politician in his happy slumber dreams of pie, so surely does the Cuban politician smile with joy at the vision of a goat. The goat is the national emblem of political success in Cuba. "Chivo" is the Spanish word for goat. It is also the Spanish word for graft. The goats of Spain, no less than the goats of Harlem, are omnivorous. That a goat will eat anything, from lace handkerchiefs and enshadowed beef cans to armor plate and lyddite shells, has been depicted by Spanish comic artists as faithfully and truthfully as by American comic artists. What was more natural than that a politician office holder's omnivorous appetite for rake-offs should suggest the goat? Whereupon "chivo" took on its new meaning and the goat was put into the Cuban slang vocabulary to do duty as noun, verb or adjective as the case might require.

Thus it may be said that the political parties in Cuba are divided as the sheep and the goats, with the variation from the sacred parable that every sheep is consumed with ambition to turn into a goat. Great is "chevo" and the Cuban politician is its prophet.

It may be suggested by some crass American who has old-fashioned notions about extracting the beam from one's own eye before applying a high-power magnet to draw the mote from the other fellow's optic orb, that American politics is not altogether free from the influence of "chevo." That may be true, but it is also true that American politics has a great deal else involved in its mazes. The vast majority of Americans adhere either to the Republican or the Democratic party because of conviction upon matters of principles, because of sentiment of association, "because father voted that way," or for some reason which cannot be charged to direct personal pecuniary interest in getting some of the graft.

The Cuban does not adhere to his political party, be it Liberal or Conservative, because of convictions upon matters of principle for the very simple reason that neither party professes to hold to any distinctive principles whatever. They both profess certain doctrines concerning liberty and the life of the republic, and such glittering generalities, but each professes as much as the other and no more. Nor does the Cuban cling to his party allegiance because of sentimental association or because of ancestral training.

Party robes are lightly worn in Cuba. A man changes his party over night and there is not one particle of the stigma which attaches to a "turn coat" or a "bolter" in America or England. Not only do the members of the party change at will and often, but the parties themselves change their names and organizations whenever

CONFESSES STEALING CARLOAD OF COAL

NIGHT SANTA FE YARDMASTER IN SERIOUS TROUBLE.

Direct Information Will Be Filed Against Him in the District Court.

The various railroads running through the city have been troubled for years by depredations on the part of numerous petty thieves, who steal coal in bucketfuls from the railroad yards, but it remained for Edward Moore, night yardmaster of the Santa Fe, to literally make away with carloads of coal. Moore was arrested yesterday by Special Agent Tim O'Leary of Pueblo and Detective John Patton of this city. He confessed to the theft, and a direct information charging him with burglary and larceny will be filed against him in the district court. Moore sold most of the coal to Charles H. Curl, proprietor of the Santa Fe hotel, 534 East Pikes Peak avenue, but no evidence showing that Curl was aware of the theft has been obtained, and it is probable that no action will be taken against him. Seventy or 80 tons of coal were found piled in the rear of the Santa Fe hotel.

Three or four carloads of coal and slack have mysteriously disappeared recently, and one carload, containing 46 tons, was missed January 17. O'Leary and the local police have been quietly investigating for several days and yesterday discovered Moore's connection with the case. He had shunted the missing coal car into the Colorado & Southern yards, which are not used, and the contents were being openly shoveled into wagons. Curl had been paying Moore from $1.50 to $3 per ton for the coal and slack.

ANTI-JAPANESE BILLS WILL PROBABLY BE BEATEN

Both Drew and Johnson Measures To Be Up Today in Legislature.

GILLET ADVISES CARE

Says Congress Is Only Body That Can Deal With Immigration Questions.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—Governor Gillet's message on the Japanese question, sent to the legislature today, had the effect of crystallizing the sentiment for and against the bills by Drew and Johnson against which President Roosevelt has invoked all his power.

The President informed the governor that it would be extremely dangerous for the legislature to enact any laws that might be construed by Japan as discriminatory. He wired Gillet today that another letter was on the way and this is expected to throw more light upon the exact situation between Japan and America.

Grove L. Johnson, author of the bill segregating Japanese in residential districts at the option of municipalities, moved today when the measure came up for third reading that it be made a special order for tomorrow. Thus two of the anti-Japanese measures will be before the lower house at that time and the fight, if any develops, will decide the whole issue. The bill by A. N. Drew, denying aliens the right to hold land was set for consideration tomorrow at the request of the author after the governor had indicated that he desired such legislation held up. Speaker Stanton and the assembly organization is against all of the bills objected to by the administration. The fight for them will come from Grove L. Johnson, the San Francisco delegation and assembly men, who have great numbers of union labor constituents.

Governor's Message.

The message in part is as follows:

"To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

"There is certain legislation now pending before you which I believe to be of grave concern, not only to our state, but to the nation as well and which should be most thoughtfully considered before it is acted upon.

"Certain bills have been introduced, some of which have been favorably reported by your committee indirectly intended to affect the Japanese people—at least such is the impression abroad. These bills have attracted the notice of the whole nation and have caused Japan to call the attention of our government to them. They have produced an agitation, not only in our own country but throughout Japan and the Japanese minister of foreign affairs has stated to the authorities in Washington that if the bills should be passed the government of Japan would consider it very embarrassing."

The governor then reviews what has been done by the governments of the United States and Japan resulting in a compact for the restriction of the provisions of which he says Japan is now carrying out. Figures are here given showing a decrease in the immigration of Japanese and the governor

OFFICERS OF FLORIDA CLAIM REPUBLIC WAS RACING

Sunken Ship Was Cutting Fog at Furious Speed When Collision Occurred.

CROSSED FLORIDA'S BOW

Captain Sealby and Operator Binns Receive Rousing Reception In New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Features of the day in the aftermath of the Nantucket collision, which resulted in the loss of the White Star liner Republic, the serious damaging of the Italian liner Florida, the death of six persons and the injury of several others, were the honors extended to Captain J. Sealby and Wireless Operator Jack Binns of the Republic and a settlement by the Florida's people as to how the collision occurred.

The day began at the landing at the White Star pier of Captain Sealby and Operator Binns. A big crowd cheered the men heartily, while a score of enthusiastic admirers tossed them to their shoulders and carried them to the steamship offices. Here the captain and Binns received the congratulations of scores of callers. Captain Sealby modestly told the story of how he stood by his ship until she sank beneath him. Later Captain Sealby and Operator Binns, accompanied by Captain Ransom of the Baltic, went to the White Star office, where another great crowd gave them an ovation.

Republic at Full Speed.

Captain Rinaldi of the Florida declined to make any statement, but C. E. Richards and company, his agents, gave a statement making the direct charge that the Republic was running at high speed through the fog and refuted reports that the quartermaster of the Florida was to blame and that the captain struck him.

"A dense fog existed at the time of the collision. The Florida had been proceeding at moderate speed, blowing her fog whistle frequently. The captain and chief officers were in charge of the navigation on the bridge and the quartermaster was at the wheel and the lookout was stationed on account of the fog. The steamship was proceeding slowly, when the fog whistles of another steamer, which afterward proved to be the Republic, were heard by the officers and lookouts off the starboard bow of the Italian steamer.

"The engines of the Florida were reversed and two signals of three whistles were blown, indicating that the engines were going astern. The collision then took place, the bow of the Florida striking the port side of the Republic somewhat aft of amidships, causing serious damage to both steamers.

Terror Paralyzed Ship.

"When the Republic became visible through the fog she was crossing the bow of the Florida from starboard to port and running at high speed. The helm of the Florida was promptly put to starboard, hoping to swing the bow of the Italian steamer to starboard and to assist in avoiding the danger of a collision.

"The other steamer, however, was

THINKS MEMBERS ARE AT MERCY OF SPEAKER

Murdock Cites Cases of Misapplication But Despairs of Reformation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—"Under the control of the speaker of the House and the enormous power with which he is armed, can the individual member properly discharge his duties to the nation?"

This query was propounded today by Representative Victor Murdock of Kansas in a speech in the House. Mr. Murdock proposed four concrete propositions. In one he cited a case in which, he said, a secret service agent under a congressional commission had been paid over $20 a day which, he said, was an outrageous sum and the second, in which for 22 years the president of the Michigan Central railroad had been paid $1,000 a year as a mail messenger to make up pay for transportation of mails on railroads which Mr. Murdock said could not be done under the laws. As a third instance he charged that an excess of payment of $25,000 a year had been made to the Eads bridge at St. Louis for mail charges. The fourth was the payment by the House of Representatives itself of $141 a day for a trivial clerical duty.

"And now" he said, "I challenge any member of this body who is not a chairman of an appropriation committee to secure a correction through congressional actions in these four items I have cited over the opposition of the speaker or without his consent or that of any of the chairmen."

He would, he declared, at a later day attempt to bring about a reform in this respect, but "has no hope of success."

DENVER BANKERS SAY GUARANTY LAW WOULD BE DISASTER TO STATE BUSINESS

Implore Representatives Not to Try Foolish Experiments When Colorado Is Enjoying Prosperity.

Alva Adams Makes Rousing Speech.

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Jan. 26.—Bankers appeared before the house committee on banking this afternoon to make argument against the proposed law to guarantee the deposits in state banks. The position of all was decidedly against the bill, and some of the gentlemen were almost vicious in their attacks. They declared that the state is now prosperous and does not need any such innovation. The principle was declared to be only theoretical and an experiment, and that the state does not at this time demand any such experiment.

W. E. Hughes of the Continental Trust company declared his bank would not take deposits if the bill were made into law. It was a vicious measure, fraught with disaster to all the business interests of the state.

F. W. Briggs, Gordon, Jones, Max Buckman, W. E. Lewis and other bankers spoke strongly against the bill, especially the clause of the guarantee.

At the close of the speeches of those invited to speak, a call was made for Alva Adams to address the meeting. The former governor stirred things up in magnificent shape.

Ex-Governor Alva Adams made politics and the guarantee bill in a speech that drew applause. He began by saying that he found sections and clauses in "this here bill that is a serious menace to the banking business of the state." He defended the guarantee section vigorously, even to "jumping" on the bankers who had spoken against it, but said there were other provisions that "would drive all banks out of the state and probably send more than half the bankers to the penitentiary." Without designating the sections he made a political address that was well received. He commended the present banking law, which was passed, he said, in spite of the determined opposition of the bankers.

No general discussion was had, the members of the legislature merely listening to the remarks of the bankers.

Outside of this little was done in either house. The senate members worked on their committees, preparing bills for printing.

In the house Mr. Parrish had the resolution to investigate the land office laid over for two days. He intends that the examination shall be conducted by experts and will go away back in the history of the office.

CALHOUN TRIAL SLOW

Eight Jurors Temporarily Passed and It Will Take Weeks to Complete Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Eight jurors had been temporarily passed to try Patrick Calhoun upon an indictment charging bribery, when today's session of the trial came to an end. Three citizens were accepted today, from among the 16 who faced the interrogating attorneys at the opening of the day, and the progress made established a record as far as the case is concerned. With the acceptance of the third juror today the third panel of talesmen was exhausted and Judge William P. Lawlor late in the afternoon undertook the preliminary examination of the 45 men comprising the fourth panel.

Despite the unexpected progress made today actual completion of the jury that will hear the testimony in the trial of the president of the United Railways is generally believed to be still a matter of weeks rather than days.

J. G. LOGAN of Pittsburg, mine superintendent.

GEORGE MORRIS, assistant superintendent, body found tonight.

JOHN COLE, day foreman.

W. R. SHUROCK AND SON.

JEROME ANXIOUS TO GET PULITZER'S SCALP FOR LIBELING HIS FRIENDS

District Attorney Says Publisher of The World Is Clearly Guilty of Criminal Libel in Story on Panama Canal Graft.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The possibility of the federal authorities having to stand aside to permit the state and county of New York to proceed against the publishers of the New York World for the alleged libel in connection with the Panama purchase, was made apparent today in a letter written by District Attorney Jerome to United States District Attorney Henry L. Stimson.

Provided Douglas Robinson, brother-in-law of the President, is willing to appear as a complaining witness, Mr. Jerome is ready, the letter states, to begin action at once in the state courts. It would be useless for him to do so, he explains, if his inquiry is not given precedence over that begun before the federal grand jury.

"I have given the matter published in the New York World of October 3, 1908, careful consideration," the letter says. "And I am of the opinion that it is plainly a libel upon Charles P. Taft and Douglas Robinson, assuming of course that it is untrue as to the syndicate mentioned therein and their alleged connection therewith.

"Under the law of this state its publication is a crime and as it was published in the county of New York, it is my duty under certain circumstances to prosecute those responsible for the publication.

"The publication has a much wider general importance than is found in most libels. It, in substance, charges that by corrupt and dishonorable, if not criminal means, the treasury of the United States was depleted to the extent of $36,500,000 through the connivance, to give it no harsher description, of some of the chief officers of the state, and that this great sum was divided among favorites in the world of politics and finance."

Mr. Jerome expresses his conviction that so serious a charge should not pass unchallenged and that adequate justification should be shown or those making it properly punished.

TRUMBULL IN DEAL TO CONTROL C. & O. ROAD

Is Member of Syndicate to Purchase 240,000 Shares of Chesapeake & Ohio Stock at $60 a Share.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The transfer of 240,000 shares of the stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company to a syndicate headed by Edwin Hawley was announced today by Kuhn, Loeb and company. This is believed to amount to a substantial control of the road. Kuhn, Loeb and company announced that they had sold to Mr. Hawley their own holdings of Chesapeake and Ohio stock and that of other interests which they had represented. Associated with Mr. Hawley in the negotiations, it was stated were Frank Trumbull, soon to resign the presidency of the Colorado and Southern and F. W. Scott of Richmond, Va.

The price paid for the Kuhn Loeb holdings is believed to be about $60 per share.

The Chesapeake and Ohio owns and operates through lease about 15,307 miles of road. Its chief points of contact are from Newport News, Va., and Washington, D. C., to Cincinnati and Louisville, with numerous branch lines. Of its capital stock there is outstanding about $63,000,000 in common shares, with only a nominal amount of preferred stock. Its bonded debt is very large and was recently increased by the issue of an additional $30,000,000.

It is reported as significant that Kuhn, Loeb and company, through whom control of the property was secured are the financial agents of the Pennsylvania railroad.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS—PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

VICE PRESIDENT ARRESTED ON LARCENY CHARGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Patrick J. Kieran, vice president of the Fidelity Funding company, whose affairs are in the hands of receivers, was arrested at his home here late today on the ground that he was a fugitive from justice and that he was wanted in Pittsburg where charges of grand larceny had been lodged against him.

Kieran had been locked up in a police cell only a few hours when word came from the chief of police of Pittsburg, stating that Kieran had given bonds there and requesting that he be released. This was done, but Kieran was served with an order to appear in the supreme court on January 29 to be examined regarding the affairs of the Fidelity Funding company.

UNITARIANISM IS NO BAR TO PUBLIC OFFICE

President Eliot Eulogizes Church Sect and Quotes Taft as Distinguished Disciple of Sect.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, retiring president of Harvard university, praised Unitarianism and Unitarians at a dinner given in his honor tonight by the Unitarian club at the Hotel Manhattan.

Dr. Eliot declared that the striking success of Unitarians did not rest upon mere assumption.

"Look at the headquarters of Unitarianism," said he. "We had in Massachusetts last fall the pleasure of helping making a Unitarian president, United States President and of electing a Unitarian governor and lieutenant governor. The mayor of Boston is a Unitarian.

"It is no longer a bar to office to a candidate that he is a Unitarian. In Ohio and Indiana during the last election ministers of other denominations sent out circular letters to their flocks asking this question: 'Would you vote for a man who denies the divinity of Christ?'

"By millions the voters of America answered, 'we will,' and they did. At the same election in Ohio, the Republicans put up an ordinary machine man as their candidate for governor. Although Taft carried the state by a large plurality the Democrat won the governorship by 17,000 and he is a Unitarian."

RAINEY CHARGES GRAFT AT PANAMA

SAYS JUDGE TAFT AIDED IN "INFAMOUS" DEAL.

Illinois Representative in Sensational Speech Attacks Leading Men.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Accusing President-elect William H. Taft of having aided in promoting "the most infamous railroad proposition ever submitted to any government," by which a coterie of Americans "are being permitted to rob not only the republic of Panama, but indirectly the treasury of the United States," Representative Rainey of Illinois, today delivered one of the most sensational of all the speeches that have been made in Congress against the Roosevelt administration.

Mr. Rainey's speech was made in support of his resolution providing for an investigation by Congress of the Panama canal. It contained a scathing arraignment of Senator Lodge, whom the speaker accused of complicity in a scheme to push through an unnecessary expenditure of over $1,000,000. William Nelson Cromwell, Charles P. Taft, Roger L. Farnham and others are accused of being principals in a gigantic scheme of graft.

Rainey claimed the absolute attention of the House and he was frequently applauded.

Incensed at the remarks of the Illinois member, Mr. Stevens (Minnesota) declared it to be "extremely regrettable that any member of this House feels called upon to raise in his place and slander the ruler of a friendly republic and defame the administration of his own government."

He had proceeded that far when he was called to order by Mr. Shackleford (Missouri) who objected to the use of the word "slander." The chair admonished Mr. Stevens to keep within the rules. He asked that it was no business of the American government what any other government did with its persons or its property, "provided it does not affect our interests."

"It is our business," he said, "to look after our own citizens and our own administration."

14,235,451 CATHOLICS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 26.—There are 14,235,451 Roman Catholics in the United States, according to the advance sheets of the 1909 "Wiltzius Official Catholic directory," published in this city. The statistics are furnished by the archbishops and bishops of the United States after the taking of a census in all dioceses.

AGONY OF ECZEMA BEYOND WORDS

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out and Ears Seemed Ready to Drop Off—Clothing Would Stick to Bleeding Flesh—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

CASE SEEMED HOPELESS BUT CUTICURA CURED HER

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sore on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I cannot praise Cuticura enough. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. My condition was so terrible that what cured me cannot fail to cure anybody of this awful disease. If any one doubts the truth of this letter, tell them to write to me. Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

MANY MEN TREMBLE OVER LAND FRAUDS

GRAND JURY INDICTS 36 PERSONS IN OKLAHOMA.

From 10 to 50 Counts Filed Against Each—All Implicated in Town Lot Deals.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Jan. 26.—Semi-official reports from the federal grand jury tonight are to the effect that 36 persons have been indicted on town lot fraud charges and that from 10 to 50 separate indictments have been found against each. Government officials, while declining to vouchsafe any information in advance of the report of the jury, do not deny that indictments have been found. To Danville, Va., goes the distinction of furnishing the first witnesses to cause true bills to be found. In the case of these witnesses the testimony is said to be unanimous, that at least 38 deeds were forged by the person indicted.

While every possible precaution is being taken by the government to prevent the secrets of the grand jury room from leaking out, apparently well founded reports are in circulation to the effect that the investigation shows a much wider conspiracy than was suspected.

To O. E. Pagan, assistant attorney general, has been assigned the duty of drawing up the indictments. Pagan was formerly assistant United States district attorney at Chicago.

Much comment is being made over the fact that two men who were largely interested in Muskogee town lots have died since the controversy over the titles began, and have thus passed beyond the pale of any grand jury inquisition.

They were General Pleasant Porter, principal chief of the Creek nation, who signed all the deeds for the town lots and the late W. H. Woodward, a wealthy drygoods merchant. Civil suits are pending against their estates involving the title to many lots. Two other large lot owners, Messrs. A. Z. English and W. T. Hutchings, are now decidedly ill. Chief Porter was the man of whom the late President McKinley said: "He is the greatest living Indian."

THE TUCKERS' DOMESTIC TROUBLES AGAIN AIRED

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The domestic troubles of Mrs. Dolly Logan Tucker will again be aired before the retiring board, of which General Frederick Dent Grant will be the presiding officer.

Mrs. Tucker, it is said, will insist on telling the board that her husband's removal to the Army and Navy hospital at Hot Springs did not prevent his association with Mrs. Platt. Colonel Tucker and Mrs. Platt will arrive in Chicago this week for the hearing.

Mrs. Dolly Logan Tucker at Top, Mrs. John A. Logan Her Mother Below, Col. William F. Tucker at Bottom.

Mrs. Tucker, it is said, will make an effort to testify before the board that her husband's disability is due to dissipation and association with another woman, and not from service in the army. She intends to make startling charges against Mrs. Myrtle Platt, according to her attorney, Haynie R. Peterson.

Mrs. Tucker holds Mrs. Platt responsible for all her domestic difficulties, her legal advisor says, and she will make every effort to present her case to the retiring board.

The Tucker case is one of the most unique in the annals of the retiring board, for through this board the wife of a colonel who is admittedly ill, attempts to settle her domestic difficulties.

ESCAPED PITFALLS OF TRACK BUT NOT STREET CAR

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 26.—Michael Hennessey, a former jockey, who has ridden on the eastern and California tracks, was run over by a street car today. His skull was crushed and recovery is improbable.

The immense Northfield schools and colleges for the training of missionaries and preachers were erected out of the profits derived from the sale of Moody and Sankey's "Sacred Songs and Solos."

MISS ELIZABETH SHERLEY TO WED NOTED FOOTBALL STAR, TOM SHEVLIN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 25.—"Big Tom" Shevlin, former Yale football star, is at last really and truly to win the third of his three big ambitions in life, namely, Elizabeth Sherley of Kentucky. It was Shevlin who, as victorious captain of Yale's football eleven, is said to have stood upon the gridiron at the end of his triumph saying to a chum: "I've realized my first ambition today, beating Harvard. I've got one more—to marry that pretty girl you see sitting there in that box."

The pretty girl in the box turned out to be Elizabeth Sherley, then and still a reigning beauty of the south.

Shevlin wooed football fashion, and she capitulated in November of 1906, only to break the troth a month later because her giant fiance was too jealous of the attentions other men paid her.

Shevlin went to Europe in a rage, returned still smarting, and a little later it was announced that he would marry Miss V. a Gilbert, daughter of the architect of Riverside Drive. When that love affair fell through, along with the denials of the lady's parents, Shevlin gave up two years to business in Minneapolis, and then sought again the pretty girl in the box.

Miss Sherley had not forgotten him, for her mother has just given out the news of her daughter's second engagement to the football star. The wedding will take place next month.

NEW NAVAL ORDER

All Departments at Mare Island Are Consolidated.

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Cal., Jan. 26.—As a result of the reorganization of the bureau systems of the navy department, planned recently by Secretary of the Navy Newberry, orders were received at the navy yard today to consolidate all the departments at Mare Island, to be placed under the jurisdiction of the department of construction and repairs with the exception of the naval magazine, supplies and accounts. The new order goes into effect on February 1.

A GIANT SLEEP DISTURBER.

From the Kennebec Journal.

A short time ago the cats of South Portland were weighed in with a view of locating the heaviest pussy. Some citizen owned an 18-pounder as a maximum. Mrs. Charles Lewis has a Boston born cat that evens the scales at 21 pounds. He is a cat with a pedigree, too. His mother was a Filipino, raised in Manila, and came to the states as a mascot of one of the companies of the First United States Infantry. Mr. Lewis, who is a discharged soldier from that regiment, obtained one of the Filipino cat's kittens. The kitten now weighs 21 pounds and is still growing.

DEFENDS TRIAL MARRIAGE.

St. Petersburg Cable to New York Times.

In the course of Thursday's session of the congress of Russian women Mme. Arabashina proposed that the congress should exert itself in favor of the establishment of experimental marriages. Perpetual marriages, she declared, were often immoral, and sometimes the cause of the gravest injustice, deceit and sin.

Several women delegates supported this proposal, but opponents were not lacking. Mme. Shestakowa, one of the latter, was violently attacked for trying to limit the emancipation of women, and the presiding ladies had the greatest difficulty in maintaining order.

DOOM OF TOUGH OLD RATS.

French Scientist Confident He Can Knock Out Erie Basin Rodents.

From the New York World.

The rats that infest the warehouses, piers and platforms of the Erie basin, Brooklyn, have the reputation of being so tough as to be immune to poison. These rats breakfast on strychnine, dine on arsenic and make dessert on cyanide of potassium; swear the longshoremen who work at the basin.

Tough as the rats are, every one of them is doomed to death; take the word for it of Prof. Jean Danyse, director of the micro-biological laboratory in the agricultural department of the Pasteur Institute, Paris.

Dr. Danyse, seeking to rid the French fields of destructive vermin, found that the rats were dying by the thousands of an infectious disease, which, however, is communicable to no other animal. The professor "made a culture" from an infected rat and injected a minute quantity of the germ in a healthy rat, which promptly turned up its toes. Then Dr. Danyse sent some of his universal lightning rat poison to Havre, and the wharf rats there partook of it and were not.

"Pooh!" said an American sailor, whose ship was at Marseilles, "this stuff, whatever it is, knocks out a French rat, but the good old rats of Erie basin would grow fat on it."

This remark came to Dr. Danyse's ears; he had never heard of Erie basin but the Yankee sailor's scorn put the French savant on his mettle. He sent enough "culture" to Brooklyn to kill thousands of rats. At 3 o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of Benjamin Rockwell, supervisor of warehouses of the port of New York, Professor Danyse's rat exterminator will be scattered in all ships, warehouses and piers in the Erie basin inclosure.

American scientists are interested in the test. They say rats destroy property worth $160,000,000 annually in the United States; that they spread disease among men, but there has been no means known to exterminate them.

TRUE SIZE OF WOMEN'S FEET.

Manufacturers Propose to Abandon Deceitful Code Signs

From the New York Herald.

There will be a rise in the size of women's feet if the shoe men have their way. No more will milady be able to squeeze her No. 7 pedal extremities into a No. 2, no matter how willing she may be to stand the pain of the squeeze. The shoe men—otherwise the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers association—have decided, in the altruistic fashion common to tradesmen, that such things shall not be. In other words, all the girls will have to take a shoe of their size.

Until Monday's session of the association in the Hotel Astor it was not generally known that most of the shoe dealers have a code system in the marking of women's shoes by which a customer of that sex may flutter into a store, sit down on the leather-covered bench, and sweetly remark to the man in charge: "I think a No. 1A will about do," and then be threatened by convulsions while the obliging salesman squeezes or tries to squeeze the same on to a—well, what's the use?

"It's just vanity," said the shoe man who introduced the measure, "and ought to be stopped. It enables a dealer to substitute one size for another in selling to a customer. It is a form of deception that is obviously unfair and unnecessary, and I have thought that possibly the manufacturers might be forced into serious consideration of the problem."

His remarks were greeted with cheers; but then there were no women present.

WHERE LINCOLN SPOKE.

From the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The faculty and students of the School of Law of Northwestern university are planning a celebration in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, during centennial week, February 7 to 14. The university building at Dearborn and Lake streets occupies the site of the old Tremont house, destroyed in the Chicago fire. From an upper balcony of the old hostelry Lincoln spoke during the historical series of debates with Douglas.

The present assembly room of the university building occupies about the same position as did the room immediately back of the historical balcony. It is therefore proposed to have a celebration in this room, at which Dr. Little of the Garrett Biblical Institute will deliver the principal address.

says he knows of nothing to sustain the assertion that the Japanese population of California is increasing. The record continues:

Friendly Relations.

"Today the relations existing between the United States and Japan are very friendly. Both are great powers among the nations of the world. Both stand in a position, geographically to dominate and control the commerce of the Pacific. Acting together they can dictate the policies which other nations must pursue in the far east and can preserve the peace there. As friendly allies, many benefits will inure to both nations and a great commerce can be carried on between them to the advantage of our people; but, as enemies, the commerce of both can be driven from the ocean. Every reason, therefore exists why there should continue between Japan and our government the most friendly relations and it is the expressed wish of each nation that this shall be so.

"If the agreement, already made, does not go far enough; that is, if classes other than those enumerated therein should have been included, then our government should make that fact known to Japan and ask to have them included and present its reasons therefor. If such reasons are good and sufficient, then in all fairness and with a desire to do what is right, Japan will no doubt consent to the request made.

For Federal Government.

The government says that the question of immigration is one for the federal government alone to settle.

If it is found that the Japanese coolie continues to pour into the state, says the governor, leasing and purchasing agricultural lands and changing white settlements to Japanese to the detriment of the state and its citizens, then it is the plain duty to call the attention of the government to the facts and position that prompt action be taken in the matter.

"While the settlement of the questions of immigration are pending," he continues, "we should be very careful about passing any legislation not absolutely necessary for our immediate protection, intended solely to affect the Japanese people being lawfully among us, because in so doing we make the task which we expect our government to perform harder to achieve. We must remember that no law that this state can enact will stop Japanese immigration. Congress alone is vested with authority to pass such legislation. And we must also recognize the fact that the Japanese among us are the subjects of a friendly nation and are entitled to the same treatment under our laws and to the same privileges and immunities as are guaranteed to the subjects of the most favored nations."

Discussing the pending bill, the governor says he sees no reason for barring aliens from becoming directors of corporations and if such are to be discouraged from investing and are not to be permitted to own land in the state, the law-making such prohibition should affect the subjects of all nations alike.

Want Amicable Settlement.

"What we want is to have the question of immigration settled amicably and settled right," says the governor and continues:

"The President of the United States and the secretary of state have issued a warning against the passing of any bills of the nature proposed. Their warning should be heeded. This matter is one in which the whole country is interested.

"The passage of all or any of the proposed bills will not prevent a single Japanese from landing here or cause one to leave the country. They will in no sense check immigration or change the Japanese way of doing business or his manner of living.

"Whatever we shall attain in the way of restricting Japanese immigration must come to us through treaties entered into by the federal government or through laws enacted by Congress.

"Our efforts should be made through the proper channels and we should prepare a statement of fact to support any petition we may present.

"I would therefore recommend that a sufficient appropriation be made to enable the labor commissioner to make a census showing the number of Japanese now in the state, the number classed as laborers and those classed as agriculturists, the number of acres of land owned by Japanese and the number of acres leased and to get such other and further information as may be useful in making a proper report to the President of the United States and to Congress. With such a census we can ascertain hereafter whether or not the Japanese population in this state is increasing or decreasing and whether or not they are extending their real property holdings."

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Drug, Poslam, Now Obtainable in Small Quantities.

Since its discovery one year ago, the new drug, poslam, has successfully cured thousands of chronic cases of eczema and other distressing afflictions. Heretofore poslam has been dispensed solely for the benefit of eczema patients, in large jars sufficient for a month's treatment. This was found to be an inconvenience to many thousands who use it for minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., which require but a small quantity to cure. To overcome this, and in response to urgent appeals, the dispensers of poslam have been obliged to adopt, in addition to the regular two-dollar package, a special fifty-cent size, which in future may be found on sale at the Robinson Drug Co., Owl Drug Co., and other leading drug stores in Colorado Springs, or may be ordered direct from the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West 25th Street, New York City. In all eczema cases poslam stops itching with first application, and proceeds to heal immediately; chronic cases being cured in two weeks. In less serious skin troubles, results are seen after an overnight application.

Samples for experimental purposes may still be had, free of charge, by writing to the laboratories for them.

SAN PEDRO SENATOR SMITES NEWSPAPER MAN

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 26.—The controversy over the abolishment of race track gambling in the state was the occasion for the first personal encounter of the session, when Senator W. H. Savage of San Pedro, this morning denounced from the floor of the senate, E. A. Dickson, a Los Angeles newspaper man, and later struck him, when they met in the postoffice in the rear of the senate chamber. On account of the age of the San Pedro senator, Dickson refrained from striking back and the incident ended. Senator Savage's complaint against Dickson was that he had written an article maligning him with the race track senators against the Walker-Otis bill.

The hearing of the public morals committee on the race track bills will be held Thursday night, instead of Wednesday, as previously scheduled.

they feel like it. It is less than seven years since the Cuban republic set up in business, and in that time the party which started in control as the Republican party changed its name to "Moderate" and then to "Conservative."

The ease with which a man may change parties does not affect the virulence of party strife nor the vociferousness of party fealty. A Liberal is a Liberal because he is a Liberal and needs the job. He yells about Liberal principles and promises that the cock fights will be opened up the minute the Americans get out. A Conservative is a Conservative because he is a Conservative and he is just as strong for cock fights as his opponent.

In the recent elections in Cuba there was not one difference of opinion between the parties which could possibly be raised to the dignity of "issue." Both parties promised the same things, both declared the same things, and both were convinced that the election of the opposition meant ruin for the nation.

No Issues in Sight.

There is a real difference between the two parties, however. It is a difference of personnel in the ranks, rather than of principle or leadership. The principles are interchangeable, the leaders go from one camp to the other at will, but the rank and file of one party is different from that of the other. The Liberals are about five shades darker as to skin than are the Conservatives.

It would be unfair to say that the Liberal party is strictly a negro party, but it can not be denied that it owes its present power to the brother in ebony. Considerably more than half the people of Cuba have negro blood in their veins. If the proportion of African blood is less than a half, or a fourth, it is vigorously denied. The census enumerators took the people's word as to ancestry, and the census shows that 70.3 per cent of the Cubans are white and only 29.7 are negroes. But the census can not be relied upon in politics, and the Cubans have awakened to the realization that the party with the negro votes will get the "chevo."

Negro a Big Factor.

The Palma administration recognized the negro, but it did not elevate him to a high place in the government. The negro resented the discrimination. He had fought and bled and starved for "Cuba Libre." One of his race, Maceo, was the military genius of the great revolution. He believed he was entitled to the fruits of victory. Therefore he gave a willing ear to the Liberal leaders who sought to overthrow the Palma regime by revolution. Nobody charged Palma with dishonesty, but he was surrounded by weak advisers, and when the administration stole the elections the Liberals raised the standard of revolt. The negroes took their machetes and rallied to the revolution.

When the American provisional government had torn the choice bits of "chevo" from the grasp of the Palma officers and had distributed them among the famished Liberals, the leaders of that party were certain that they could win any elections that might be held. So there were two aspirants for the presidential nomination, General Jose Miguel Gomez and Senator Alferdo Zayas. Instantly the Liberal party was split in twain. The Miguelistas and the Zayistas were at each others' throats and the grand old Liberal party was in a pickle. The municipal elections came on, and, to the consternation of the office-holders, the Conservatives swept the country.

The Liberals were frightened, and, seeing their internecine strife would be their undoing, patched up a truce. A coalition of the two factions was formed for the sole and only purpose of carrying the presidential elections. Gomez was nominated for president and Zayas for vice president. The coalition ticket carried every province in the island by an enormous majority and was swept into power. The Conservatives were wiped off the map.

Gomez and Zayas will be inaugurated on January 28. Each is the leader of a rival faction. If the federal patronage can be distributed so that both of these factions will be pleased there is little or no danger of further trouble in Cuba. If either is seriously displeased there will be a clash, and perhaps another "taking to the bushes."

Conservatives Want Peace.

The defeated Conservative party is well named. It is made up of the conservative business men of the island, men who want peace, and who will surrender almost every political advantage to obtain it. The Conservative leaders, many of them, are as much inspired by the love of "chevo" as any of the Liberals. But the rank and file are sober, law-abiding white men of substance. They do not know how to swing a machete and they wouldn't take to the bushes if they did. There is no danger of a revolution from that quarter.

But the Liberals are a different class of people. Even if Gomez and Zayas should succeed in parcelling out the "chevo" so that the leaders would be satisfied, there is yet room for trouble. The negroes must be satisfied. There is no doubt that they will be recognized by the appointment of negroes to high office, but even that may not suffice. They may demand a large proportion of the offices, which they will not get. They demand that certain discriminations, which tend to keep them off the police forces and out of the rural guards, be removed. If these demands are not obeyed, and if a leader arises, and if some corporation will put up a few shekels, there will be another revolution. And then there will be another call upon the United States, another provisional government, and another question of "what shall we do with Cuba?"

The Conservative party, following the precedent of defeated parties in these latitudes, probably will be recognized. It will endeavor to hold the balance of power in Congress between the two factions of the Liberals, and, if its leaders are skillful, it may exercise great influence upon the course of government under the new administration.

Just at present the treasury is empty and preparations are being made to float a loan of $15,000,000 to meet necessary demands. A loan treasury does not conduce to revolution. When General Guerra started his revolt against Palma there was almost $15,000,000 lying idle in the treasury and just burning to be spent. The revolutionists hoped to have the responsibility of disbursing it, but the American provisional government saved them the trouble. The American administration spent the money upon much needed improvements, and authorized the new loan which the Gomez administration can float without asking Congress for permission.

The Cuban wants an office. The merchants and the business men are all Spaniards or foreigners from other countries. The one or two per cent of the Cuban population which is educated looks only to official life for a career. A position in the civil service or a commission in the military establishment is the dream of every Cuban who can read and write. Political parties are looked upon merely as the necessary machinery for getting into office. There is no pretension to any other object of public service. The salary is the whole thing. The newspapers are frank to the point of bluntness in discussing such things. Take up almost any Cuban newspaper and you will find somewhere on the front page in heavy head-line type the word "chevo." Politics and "chevo" are inextricably mixed up in this young republic. Political parties as they are known in the United States do not exist. They are simply ephemeral organizations cemented by the momentary popularity of some particular patriot whose promises appeal to the proletariat.

Taste Is Sure Stomach Guide

A Barometer Which Never Fails, Though Seldom Believed.

Taste is the direct guide to the stomach, and the taste buds are connected by the nerves with the stomach itself, so that they represent its health or disorder. If the stomach or its juices are out of tone, the blood is fermented by a change in the alkaline or acid condition, and these reach the mouth both directly and indirectly.

"The taste buds are in the tongue, and are mounted by hairlike projections called papillae; they cover the surface of the tongue."

"When you taste these buds rise up and absorb the liquid; inform the nerves; the nerves tell the stomach, and the food is acceptable or not, just as the stomach feels."

The above remarks on taste comes from an eminent authority and simply explains why when one smells cooking or sees food one thinks he can eat, but when he tastes he learns the stomach is out of business.

To the para who cannot taste aright, who relishes no food and simply forces himself to eat, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets hold the secret of enjoyable eating, perfect digestion and renewed general health.

Most men wait until their stomachs are completely sickened before they think seriously of assisting nature.

When your taste for food is lost it is a certain sign the stomach needs attention. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure such stomachs. They restore sweetness of breath, renew gastric juices, enrich the blood and give the stomach the strength and rest necessary to general duty.

Forty thousand physicians use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and every druggist carries them in stock, price 50c per box. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package free by mail. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Severe Cold Cured

BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

MISS ETHEL ROCHE

It was a happy thought that prompted Miss Ethel Roche of 227 Florida Ave., Jacksonville, Fla., to ask her druggist's opinion when looking for something to cure her cold. A druggist knows the value of a medicine by the popularity it enjoys and the repeated calls he has for it, and his prompt advice to her was to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Sister Was Also Cured

Miss Roche had a neglected cold about three years ago and was so hoarse she could hardly speak. She says: "The druggist told me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did so and in three days I was greatly relieved; within a week I was cured. Mother felt so pleased, she said she would never be without it and when sister caught cold soon afterwards, she at once gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it broke up the cold in one day."

Never Neglect a Cold

A cold should never be treated lightly as it is always more or less serious. Many people make the mistake of neglecting a cold until it settles in some of the delicate pulmonary organs and chronic catarrh, bronchitis or serious lung trouble develops. If every cold received the attention it should have, all danger of this kind would be avoided. Every cold can be cured by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A bottle or two of this remedy taken as soon as a cold is first contracted will promptly cure it, and not only save doctor's bills, but much suffering and annoyance later on.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is for sale everywhere at 25c per bottle, large size 50c.

NEWBURY MAY SUCCEED GRISCOM

LLOYD GRISCOM.

Ambassador to Rome, at Top, and Truman H. Newberry, Who May Succeed Him.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—It is pretty generally understood that Truman H. Newberry will not continue in his office as secretary of the navy in President Taft's new cabinet. William Loeb, Jr., is thought to be slated for that position, as far as it is possible to determine at the present time. Mr. Taft recognizes the worth of the present incumbent, however, and rumor, entirely unconfirmed, has it that Mr. Newberry will be given an ambassadorship either to Rome or some other European capital. Now that Ambassador Griscom's resignation has become definitely known it is thought that Mr. Newberry may be the one to succeed him.

The recent Italian misfortune has only again demonstrated the excellent ability of the American representative at Rome. His heroic efforts and successful work in allaying the sufferings of the Italians in the earthquake zone have won him universal praise.

Ambassador and Mrs. Griscom have been particularly successful in Rome. They are both young and charming and are not too rich. They are very popular with the king and queen. When Mr. Griscom became ambassador to Rome he

He told a reporter that he had made a sailor on record. The German press has been and is still of the opinion that Mr. Griscom is being groomed for the Berlin embassy when the time arrives for Dr. Hill's transfer to London, if such should be the case.

REPUBLIC PASSENGER DIES

Wife Was Instantly Killed in Stateroom by His Side by Florida's Bow.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Eugene Lynch, one of the passengers who was injured on the ill-fated Republic, died here today.

Mr. Lynch and his wife, who were from Rochester, Mass., occupied one of the staterooms on the Republic which was penetrated by the bow of the Florida. Mrs. Lynch was instantly killed and her body was still on board the Republic when the liner sank. Mr. Lynch's leg and thigh were broken and he was internally injured and bruised about the head. It was with the greatest difficulty that he was removed from the Republic to the Florida, and when it became necessary to again transfer the passengers from the Florida to the Baltic, he expressed the wish to be allowed to stay on the Florida, saying:

"If I am to die, let me die here."

His condition was then regarded as extremely serious and the Rev. Father Morris of Trenton, one of the passengers of the Republic, administered the last rites to him before leaving the Florida. The ship's doctor on board the Florida gave the injured man constant attention on the way from Nantucket to New York and the fact that Mrs. Lynch was killed in the collision was concealed from him.

TRAIN ROBBER WILL SPEND REST OF LIFE IN PRISON

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 26.—George Frankhouser was found guilty of robbing a Great Northern train, extracting $40,000 from the registered mails and placing the lives of the custodians in jeopardy, by the jury in the federal court today and he will be sentenced by Federal Judge W. H. Hunt, Thursday. The verdict was returned just after 6 o'clock tonight. Under the statutes, Frankhauser must serve the rest of his life in a federal prison at hard labor. Aside from a slight twitching of his face, the prisoner showed no emotion.

It is probable that Frankhauzer will be sent to Leavenworth.

FAKE PRIEST TO BE SENT TO CHICAGO FOR TRIAL

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 26.—"Father" Lu[illegible]SFET ET ET E Lubicz, who says he is a Chicago Priest, will be deported by the Winnipeg police. He is in jail awaiting the arrival of the Chicago police at the boundary line, where he will be arrested.

The police wired that Lubicz is wanted there on charges of "jumping bail" and obtaining money by posing as a priest.

He is accused of conducting an orphans asylum in Chicago and having it on the ground that it was a church enterprise.

These are homes intended for two or three people. They are fully equipped for light housekeeping, have three rooms, with electric lights, water, the best of beds, a north and a south porch, altogether securing all the comforts of the house with all the advantages of a tent. The circulation of air is so controlled that it can be warmed to suit the patient, or be just as cold as the air outside. They are within one block of the street car line, so the patients reach town with only one fare. The sun has free access to the cottage, both forenoon and afternoon. The treatment that is used in the sanatorium has been and is successful in controlling fever, night sweats, hemorrhages, and in getting rid of the bacilli in a short time, and in promoting a natural appetite with perfect assimilation of food. All who are interested in tuberculosis are cordially invited to visit this sanatorium and mingle with the patients and note their improvement. Correspondence invited.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1909.

MAKING COAL MINING SAFER.

THREE coal mine accidents which in the last two months have claimed scores of lives call attention again to the problem of lessening the dangers of this industry and to the efforts of the United States Geological Survey to ascertain the causes of these catastrophes and to determine means of preventing them.

Active investigation along this line was commenced about a year ago as a result of widespread agitation due to an appalling loss of life in the mines in 1907. In December alone, of that year, four explosions took the lives of 700 men. One of the disasters, that at the Monongah mine in West Virginia, was the greatest of the kind in the history of this country. Although 1907 was an unusual year, the annual number of fatalities in coal mining in this country in proportion to the number of men employed has always been a great deal larger than in European countries where government experiment stations and strict supervision over methods of mine operation are maintained.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY IS EVER ALERT. During the last year the number of casualties incident to coal mining in this country was considerably less than in the year before, and, although it can hardly be claimed that this fact is due in any way to the work of the Geological Survey, nevertheless it is highly probable that the present year will witness a still further reduction as the result of the application of knowledge gained from the experimental work which it is conducting.

Already, according to a report issued by the Department, two discoveries have been made which will tend to decrease the number of deaths in the mines. It has been demonstrated that a number of the so-called "safety" explosives are anything but safe; in fact the statement is made that with the present explosives used in mining the miner takes his life in his hand every time he touches off a fuse. Eventually, the explosives used in the mines of this country will be standardized in such a manner that the miner will have a definite idea of what they will do, and this is certain to result in a decrease of accidents.

COAL DUST IS A SOURCE OF DANGER. The more important discovery, however, is that coal dust is an explosive equally as dangerous as the deadly fire damp. This has been a mooted question among mining engineers and miners alike, both insisting that it is impossible to explode coal dust unless there is gas present. At the testing station it has been proven that coal dust will explode where there is no gas, and the experts are now bending their energies to discover some method by which this dust can be prevented from being a serious menace to the miners.

These experiments have not yet advanced to the stage where the results attained can be made the basis of legislation, nevertheless they will result in lessening the dangers of coal mining through the fact that miners and operators are being invited to witness the experiments and are gaining much valuable information which it is to their own interest to apply to the operation of the mines. The probability that the recent mine horrors were due simply to lack of the knowledge—knowledge which the investigations now in progress will in time make general—emphasizes forcibly the need of pushing forward these experiments with all possible speed.

WORK OF RESCUE IS IMPORTANT. Considerable time will of course be necessary before the problem of fully protecting the miner is understood, and in the meantime the Government experts are devoting attention to experiments in rescue work. Mine operators throughout the country are sending picked men to the experiment station to watch the Government rescuers at work in the miniature mine which has been fitted up, and are organizing rescue corps at their mines. Oxygen helmets are employed which make it possible to remain for a considerable period in the midst of the most deadly fumes, and unquestionably many lives will be saved through the employment of this device.

The annual slaughter of coal miners in this country is a standing rebuke to the nation and to the various states which have been and are criminally negligent regarding legislation to protect the mine workers. And now that reliable information is being obtained as to the least dangerous methods of mining, it is to be hoped that laws making it compulsory upon mine operators to surround the men with every possible safeguard will be placed upon the statute books and rigidly enforced by permanent boards of supervision.

The laws of this State regulating the operation of metal mines, coupled with strict supervision by the Bureau of Mines, have served to reduce the number of accidents to a remarkably low minimum, and now that the state is beginning extensive development of its vast coal reserves it would do well to take the lead in framing legislation based on the results of the Government experiments.

SOUND COMMON SENSE.

IN addressing the delegates to the twelfth annual convention of the American Livestock Association, which convened in Los Angeles yesterday, President Jastro of the Association made some remarks concerning the Federal policy as to control of forests and grazing lands which indicate that even if there are men either too selfish or too short-sighted to acknowledge or appreciate the wisdom of the Government's system, this condition does not exist among all the stock raisers of the country. Mr. Jastro said in part:

"Years of experience, much of it full of misfortune, have impressed upon stockmen the growing evils of uncontrolled and overstocked ranges. When the question of Federal control of the open range was first considered by this Association, eight or ten years ago, there was a marked difference of opinion among the users of the range, but in the past few years there appears to be a steadily increasing majority who favor Government control by a lease, or otherwise."

He also highly commended the government forest reserve policy which is so bitterly and maliciously attacked in this state, particularly by members of the Democratic party.

Opposition to the policy of the President, which is being so admirably executed by Gifford Pinchot, head of the Forestry Bureau, is largely animated by ulterior motives, and the wisdom of it is coming to be more generally recognized and conceded. In coming generations the country will have reason to be thankful that the forests have been preserved and the ranges protected, and in the meantime it is the part of intelligent and honest citizenship to support the Federal policy and not for selfish or political reasons to obstruct it.

SERFDOM IN THE UNITED STATES.

From the New York Times.

At a meeting of the striking hatters in Orange their president urged them to stand firm against the employers' attempts to abolish the union label system. He added that "defeat at this time would mean a return to worse conditions than existed in the early days of battling in the Oranges, and that meant practically Russian serfdom."

In the Flushing police court an adult American, ordered to build a cesspool, protested, "This ain't Russia." The stony-hearted judge did not join issue on this point, but gave the option to build the cesspool or go to jail. At the convention of the United Mine Workers President Kern, a trades unionist of more than average information, declared the sympathy of this exceptionally strong union with Mr. Gompers and the other boycotters under sentence of imprisonment for contempt of court. "What crime have you committed?" he asked. "They have been committed to jail simply for standing for that right of free speech and a free press for which hundreds of patriots have died."

It may be conceded that all those spokesmen are expressing their honest opinion, but it does not follow that they all ought to have that freedom of action to which they aspire. There ought to be no freedom in the United States to injure others, and whatever degree of severity is necessary to check such heresies ought to be applied without hesitation.

FOR HEALTH IN THE SLEEPING CAR.

From the New York World.

In concluding a paper on the sanitation of the modern sleeping car, Dr. Sarah M. Hobson remarks that "altogether the railroads are doing quite as much for the traveler as he is inclined to do for himself."

Dr. Hobson notes great progress in the line of cleanliness on sleeping cars. She recalls from a paper read in "a neighboring American country" only three years ago the declaration, made in all seriousness, that "these pillows, or at least the pillow cases, must be disinfected and washed from time to time." Cleaning, disinfection and the prompt closing of sections upon known exposure of contagious or infectious disease are now matters of routine. Ornate woodwork gives place to simplicity of finish; carpets are removable and diminished; cloth fabric is banished from the smoking room; smooth tapestry is being introduced for upholstery; the porter no longer frowns when asked to leave the screen in at night.

Besides the personal equation of the boorish or selfish passenger, the most grievous unsolved problems, according to Dr. Hobson, are those of adequate ventilation of the lower berth, supervision of the ice and water supply and the instruction of employes. What appears to be a good suggestion is that the conductor should receive instruction in the obvious diagnosis of contagious disease.

IN PURSUIT OF LAND FRAUDS.

From the New York World.

Too little attention has been paid to Secretary Garfield's official statement, based on general land office reports, that approximately $110,000,000 worth of public lands have been fraudulently acquired by corporations and individuals. Only by prompt action can the people's property be protected, for the statute of limitations quickly runs and the government cannot bring suit against a patent after six years. To prosecute expeditiously the vast work already begun of recovering timber, mineral and agricultural lands illegally held Secretary Garfield asks for an increased appropriation of $1,000,000.

To former Secretary Hitchcock fell the credit and labor of pursuing the land thieves who had been operating wholesale and virtually unmolested for a long term of years in the state west of the Mississippi. At every step he encountered the hostility of powerful political influences, but he stuck to his task up to the last day he held office.

Secretary Garfield has carried on the work vigorously in the face of ill-advised opposition in the west. He reports, however, that while the field service has investigated over 28,000 cases in the last 17 months, there are still 42,000 distinct cases demanding further inquiry. On reports of special agents 1,904 cases are pending in the department of justice and the United States courts and 1,021 cases have been set for hearing before local land offices. Coal claims worth $16,000,000 in Alaska; coal and other mineral lands held by the Central and Union Pacific and other Harriman companies in Utah, Nevada, Idaho and Wyoming, worth $49,500,000; large areas of timber land in California, Colorado, Oregon and Washington, represent only a few of the larger cases in which charges of fraud and illegality are now pending.

In no better way than by upholding Secretary Garfield's hands can Congress aid in the conservation of the national resources.

THE MOWING MACHINE.

From Collier's Weekly.

Down they go. The collapse of the old system is hardly realized, now that we are reading about the re-election to the Senate of a few of the intrenched. There were senatorial elections under the direct primary laws last summer in nine states. Antimachine senators were elected in Oregon, Washington, North and South Dakota, Kansas and Iowa. In Missouri Folk carried 80 per cent of the counties and was defeated by the machines in Kansas City and St. Louis. Stephenson of Wisconsin is hardly to be called a reactionary. In Illinois a fifty thousand majority was registered against Hopkins. The reason he was not defeated is to be sought in the shortcomings of the primary law in Illinois. The fact that under the primary laws the past year the people won six and the reactionaries two seats, with the ninth man a dogfall, indicates what these laws will do to the Senate when they get into full action. When one reactionary senator is mowed down at a primary and is replaced with a free man, the free man's colleague has to vote right or quit. Fifteen Republican states, having 30 senators, choose senators by direct primaries; 30 being a majority of the Republican caucus. Two years hence the people will start the mowing machine again. The primary law is an issue now in Utah, Colorado, Idaho, New York and New Hampshire. Suppose that two out the five states adopt it making 17 Republican states—what becomes of the Aldrich control? With the primary law operating in the west the election in New England of men like Gallinger becomes more and more negligible; for only as those men make a part of a majority machine are they dangerous. They have no power of persuasion, no gift of statesmanship. They are crafty; they are full of tricks and wiles. But the primary sends men to the senate who cannot afford to succumb to tricks and wiles; if they succumb they go home.

NO SIGNIFICANCE IN YUAN SHI KAI'S BACKWARD AMERICA.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The Saturday Review uses the President's last message, which it calls "a huge Mississippi of verbiage, upon which Mr. Roosevelt floats nobly out of office," to tell how much better conditions are and long have been in the United Kingdom than in the United States.

For instance, the President asks for the supervision of issues of railroad securities by the national government. At no time has an English, Irish or Scotch railway been able to issue bonds or shares without an act of parliament which has had to get the approval of the private bill committees of both houses. The President asks that power be given the railroads to make combinations and traffic agreements with the permission of the interstate commerce commission. In the United Kingdom agreements can be made for pooling profits or fixing common rates with the consent of the railway commission, before which any objector can appear.

The President asks for the prohibition of child labor, the diminution of woman labor, and the shortening of hours of all mechanical labor. The Saturday Review says his complaints about the treatment of wage workers "are those of Lord Ashley in 1846." The British factory and workshop acts and numerous other laws, notably the employers' liability act, have gone far to settle the question of "taking care of the wage workers."

The President wishes corporate finances to be supervised so as to make it safer for the man of small means to invest his money in stocks. The Saturday Review says that British investors are secured by acts which force corporations to lay bare their innermost secrets of bookkeeping and surround the position of a director with ruinous penalties. Directors are sent to prison in Great Britain when their dishonesty has wrecked a company.

The Saturday Review says exultantly that it would appear from the President's message that "the Americans are about seventy years behind the effete Britishers in the matter of industrial and financial organization." They are behind the Britishers in some particulars and should catch up with them, but the Saturday Review does not take into consideration the fact that these are to a certain extent matters of state legislation, and that some states have been much more progressive than others. And yet, in spite of the inadequacy of American legislation as regards taking care of the American wage worker, he seems to be a great deal better off than his British brother. He has better wages and steadier work. The bitter cry of the unemployed which is disturbing the peace of British communities and drowning the sound of Christmas rejoicing is hardly heard here.

JAPAN AND OUR NAVAL BILL.

From the Washington Star.

A sly scheme is read into the revival of the anti-Japanese agitation. Coming at a time when the Senate is on the eve of taking up the naval appropriation bill, it means, we are told, a boost for more battleships.

See our peril, the argument runs. We have practically nothing now afloat in the Pacific. We should have a powerful fleet there—the equal in every particular of the one returning to the Atlantic from the voyage around the world. That would insure tranquillity on the Pacific coast and elsewhere. Japan would be far less bumptious, and our own people far less uneasy. The whole trouble grows out of our unpreparedness where we should be fit as a fiddle. While our ships were near, Japan was all smiles and friendship. Now that they are out of striking distance, she is all frowns and threats.

This is a most unwise way to go about securing a necessary and desirable thing. We should be strong in the Pacific—probably as strong as in the Atlantic. In time we shall be. And the orders should not be slow. Battleships are not turned out ready for action while you wait. We all know what the other powers are doing, and it is our duty to ourselves and others to keep up with the procession.

But it would be both reckless and unwarranted to take this action under the inspiration of an indictment of Japan. To assume that, despite her professions of friendship, she is our enemy, impatiently awaiting an opportunity to wage war on us, would be to make her our enemy and put her on notice. To order ships in that spirit and for that purpose would be in a way to declare war against Japan. We should in effect announce a purpose to take a fall out of her as soon as ready.

The other day a man of prominence, a visitor from San Francisco, uttered a solemn warning in this tenor against Japan, and quoted the attack on Port Arthur from the sea as a sample of how she moves in war. We may expect any day or night, according to this man, a Japanese fleet to appear in Manila bay, or in the roadstead at Honolulu, or rushing through the Golden Gate, bent upon an assault upon American territory. Did not Japan strike Russia without notice? Is she not capable of serving us the same way?

This suggestion hardly needs reply. Our relations with Japan are so radically different from those of Russia with Japan which brought on the war beginning with Port Arthur that no parallels of any kind can be drawn. We have just exchanged with Japan formal assurances of friendship, and we have no more right to question her sincerity toward us than she would have to question ours toward her.

TRAVEL EPISODES

From the Chicago News.

I.

A travel-stained man registered at a Kansas hotel.

"Bath?" said the clerk.

"Yes," said the traveler.

Twenty minutes later the room telephone rang up the office and the traveler asked:

"Say, was that 'bath' part of it a joke?"

"No; why?"

"Not a particle of hot water here."

"Well, that's too bad. I'll look after it. You'll have hot water in fifteen minutes."

Half an hour later:

"That fifteen minutes is up a couple of times, but the water temperature isn't."

"Isn't what?"

"Isn't up."

"Well, that's too bad. It'll be ready in fifteen minutes."

"That remark begins to sound reminiscent. I want my bath now or never."

Fifteen minutes later.

"No hot water yet. Why don't you do as you promise?"

"Why, the porter has both furnaces going. I think—here's the porter. I'll send him up."

The porter appears. The traveler explodes but finally becomes coherent, and the porter explains:

"Why, boss, you all's got yo' dates mixed. You-all can't fool me. Dis ain' Sat'day night!"

II.

The weary world-disgusted man crawled into a sleeper, with his two big grips, at McFarland, Kan., at 2 a. m., and asked the porter for a berth. The porter grumbled out that he guessed there was none to be had. The conductor then came along and gave about as cheerful and friendly an answer as the porter had given.

"My, but you're a lovely pair of lovely soreheads, aren't you?" sputtered the passenger.

"Well," yawned the conductor, "what did you expect to see us doin' this time o' day—yodelin' and doin' the 'Merry Widow' waltz? An' come to think of it, you're not lookin' much like merry little sunshine yourself, old scout."

III.

Little Noah Beilharz, a lyceum man who travels with his wife over the large lecture course circuits, wrote ahead to a small town in Missouri for a nicely warmed room.

When he arrived he recalled his letter to the landlord, and asked if the room was nicely warmed.

"Yep," said the landlord. "They ain't no stove up in it, but the stovepipe from th' parlor runs right up through it."

"Oh, that's all right," said Beilharz.

"But will there be a fire in the stove below?"

"N-no," said the hotel proprietor, "you see, the parlor stove ain't been put up yit, but we'll set it up next week."

TO BUILD GLASS HOUSES.

Sand of Remarkable Qualities Found in Iowa Rivers.

Des Moines Dispatch to the New York Times.

A remarkable discovery has been made in reference to the qualities of the sand deposits along the Raccoon and Des Moines rivers in this neighborhood. It has been learned by careful chemical analysis that the sand contains the proper ingredients to make it a good raw material for the manufacture of building glass. There are certain properties which the river sand contains which make it impossible to utilize it in the manufacture of plate glass, but for colored glass, the heavier forms of building glass, glass bottles of all descriptions, and other uses to which glass can be commercially placed it is thought to be admirably adapted.

In connection with this use of the Des Moines river and Raccoon river sand, which is here in great abundance, a local architect, C. A. Eastman, has outlined a plan for the construction of buildings out of glass. He has already drawn plans for a number of such buildings. He finds that for a little more than the cost of cement buildings he can build entire business blocks out of steel and glass, insuring absolute fire protection, and give to the building a finish which cannot be obtained save in the most expensive marble and stone structures. The recent meeting of the American Association of Architects took up the question and considered it. A paper by the Des Moines architect heightened the discussion upon the use of rough glass as an outside building material.

Paragraph Pulpit

Unitarian.

All Souls' Church, North Tejon and Dale Sts.—Service 11 A. M.

THE LIVING PRESENT.

The Unitarian church believes in God as a living reality of the present. It gives due honor to the tradition pictures that have come up to us from the past. But it believes in a God who lives here and now. If He cannot be detected in the life that we ourselves are living, it may be regarded as impossible to discover Him in the dust of the ages that are gone. Belief in God surely implies the consciousness of God in the energies and efforts of today. Of all realities, God should be most real. If you do not find it thus, it is just possible that you are looking in the wrong direction for God. Perhaps He is nearer than you think.

GIULIA MOROSINI.

Giulia Morosini has inherited millions from her father, while her brother was left only $100,000. The son is happy, and takes the matter philosophically. He says he is too happy to fight for the millions, and declines to contest the will.

He told a reporter that he had made a small fortune, had a lovely wife and daughter, of whom he is passionately fond, and a beautiful home, and that he is as happy as it is given man to be.

When Giovanni P. Morosini died, several months ago, he left between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000,000. To each of his four children he "bequeathed" comparatively small sums—Attillio's share was about $100,000—and all the rest went to his daughter Giulia.

But Attillio only smiled when the subject came up for discussion. Mr. Morosini was formerly Mary Washington Bond, a radiant beauty.

"If all the sons of millionaires were treated as I was," said Mr. Morosini, "there would be fewer divorces among society people. My father sent me out in the world to make my own way.

"Had my father given me a fancy income it is probable that I would have lived at some stylish hotel and become a big spender.

"Now that I have made my own way, and been independent for so long, the fact that I do not receive any of the millions of my father does not disturb me."

Although Mr. Morosini was barred from the home of his father during the latter's last illness, he feels no bitterness toward his sister Giulia.

STAGE HAND IN MAXINE'S BATH

Actress Discovers Invader Reveling in Luxuries of Her Tub.

From the New York Herald.

Miss Maxine Elliott thought she would make a little tour of inspection over her new theater, in Thirty-ninth street, Wednesday morning. It is a very pretty theater, and Miss Elliott is as fond of it as a child is of a new toy.

Adjoining the star's dressing room is a perfect dream of a bath, with tiled floor, an enticing porcelain tub, all the latest thingumbobs in the way of showers, sprays, mirrors, pomades, cerates, and perfumed waters, known in their fullness only to a popular actress.

Miss Elliott entered her dressing room, opened the door of her bathroom, and started in. She only started, for in a fraction of a second she backed away, with a shriek. A vision, surpassing fair, had met her gaze.

Lolling luxuriously back in the tub, which was nearly filled, was the unadorned of—well, call him Mike—one of the stage hands. His head was above the water, and from his lips protruded a dainty, gold-tipped cigarette, the curling smoke from which mingled with the delicious vapors of the bath.

Miss Elliott summoned other attaches of the house and a charge was made upon the bathroom. Mike was found sitting up in the tub, rubbing a delicate pink cream into a beard of several days' growth, while on a table near by stood half a dozen bottles of fragrant waters, all of which had been sampled. He laughed when they caught him. A few minutes later a husky but odorous person, about three-quarters clad, might have been seen making toward Sixth avenue.

They were one stage hand shy at the Maxine Elliott theater but Miss Elliott played with unusual fervor.

TRIOLETS.

He said it hurt him worse than me,
I didn't hear him crying.
When I was there across his knee
He said it hurt him worse than me.
I wish it had 'a' done, I gee!
I think that he was lying.
He said it hurt him worse than me
I didn't hear him crying.

He must have thought it was a treat
That he to me was handing,
It's been some time since he was beat,
He must have thought it was a treat
I notice, though, he didn't eat
His meals next day a-standing.
He must have thought it was a treat
That he to me was handing.

It wouldn't be so awful bad
To get a little licking,
If that alone was all I had,
It wouldn't be so awful bad,
But "hurt him worse"—that makes me mad,
It's that that starts me kicking.
It wouldn't be so awful bad
To get a little licking.

COLONY OF TENTS IS GROWING RAPIDLY

With 60 tents erected and provision made for others by camps thoroughout the country, the tent colony at the M. W. A. sanitarium north of the city is growing at a rapid rate. The substantial interest taken in the colony by the leading camps indicates that not less than 50 tents will be added to the sanitarium within the next 30 days.

Several of the Chicago camps recently voted $250 each to establish tents at the sanitarium. This action was followed by several St. Louis camps providing funds for tents.

With nearly 13,000 camps in the order it is expected that the colony will number at least 3,000 tents within the next few years.

MRS. A. W. BAILEY DIES

Former Springs Woman Passes Away in Denver—Was Well Known Here.

Mrs. A. W. Bailey, mother of Mrs. W. O. Brinker of this city, died of heart disease last Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Vallejo, 1420 Logan avenue, Denver.

Mrs. Bailey, who is well known in Colorado Springs, is survived by her husband, lessee for several years of the Broadmoor hotel and casino; a daughter, Mrs. Brinker, and a son, W. W. Bailey. The son-in-law, W. O. Brinker, is manager of the Acacia hotel of this city, and lessee of the Broadmoor hotel and casino.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey were pioneers of Colorado, and for years have been prominently identified with the leading hotels of the state. They opened the Colorado hotel at Glenwood Springs.

WALDEN GIVES ADDRESS

Says Death Does Not Relieve Man of Responsibility to His Family.

"The man who fails to so arrange his affairs that his family is left without protection against want and suffering after his death is guilty of criminal negligence."

With this startling statement, W. J. Walden of Denver, state manager of the Court of Honor, prefaced an address before members of Helen Hunt district, Court of Honor, at Caledonian hall last evening. Mr. Walden arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and will remain several days in the interest of the order.

W. J. WALDEN,
State Manager of the Court of Honor.

"Death," he said, "does not relieve a man of this responsibility, for it is the duty of every man who is able to work with his hands or his brains, to leave his family a competency."

Mr. Walden reviewed the history of the Court of Honor in Colorado, stating that it is in splendid financial condition and rapidly growing in membership. Helen Hunt court in this city has 100 members, and a campaign is soon to be started to increase the membership.

Following Mr. Walden's address, a social session was held under direction of Miss Luella Coats, Miss Luella Evans and Miss June Dixon.

The officers of Helen Hunt court are: Chancellor, Mrs. Harriett Shellenberger; vice chancellor, Mrs. Lulu Stivers; past chancellor, Otto Schmidt; recorder, Mrs. Myrtle Alby; chaplain, Miss Mary F. Crossman; conductor, Walter K. Calland; conductor guard, Edgar W. Stivers; sentinel, J. F. Shellenberger; pianist, Miss Leona Park; directors, William Egger, G. A. Wall and F. Collins.

"THE RED MILL" PLEASES

Parts of Play Exceptionally Fine. Company Is Generally Good, But Cannot Sing.

If there were a few more Victor Herberts writing for the musical comedy stage, there might be hope for some improvement in this line of entertainment. The rough and tumble comedy effects might be done away with and this pleasing form of musical entertainment might rise to its old standard of the comic opera days of long ago, when such works as "The Mascott" flourished. Herbert has given several high-class musical comedies to the stage, such as "The Fortune Teller," "The Singing Girl," "Mlle. Modiste" and lately "The Prima Donna" and "The Red Mill," which, minus Montgomery and Stone, appeared for the first time in this city at the Opera House last night before a packed house.

"The Red Mill," on the whole, is perhaps no better than other musical comedies seen in this city this season, but at times it rises to real comic opera as in the opening of the second act, "The Legend of the Mill," "Because You're You" and the finale of act two. At other times such songs as "The Isle of Our Dreams," "Every Day Is Ladies' Day With Me" are introduced and they are as good as any musical comedy songs heard here in a long time. Then again, there are such vaudeville specialties as "Good-a-Bye John" and "In Old New York," which altogether make "The Red Mill" a mixed, although lively and interesting evening's entertainment.

The company seen here last night is adequate. Walter Wills, a most nimble dancer and clever comedian and impersonator, plays Stone's part and Neil McNeil does Montgomery's role. They do good "team" work and it is hard to imagine the parts played better. Anna McNabb is clever and her dancing is extremely graceful, dashing and pleasing. The balance of the company does well, but with the exception of Maurice Laving, last heard in this part of the country with Fritzi Scheff in "Mlle. Modiste," it is weak, as far as singing is concerned. The "Dutch Kiddies" are about the cutest things that have come this way in a long time, and the only regret is that they do not appear oftener and stay on the stage longer when they do come on. The play [illegible]

HUNDREDS ATTEND FUNERAL

Friends Pay Last Tribute to Charles L. Tutt, Colorado Springs Millionaire.

Hundreds of sorrowing friends assembled at the Grace church yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral of the late Charles L. Tutt, who died in New York city last Thursday. The services at the grave were private.

The loss of Mr. Tutt is widely mourned in Colorado Springs. He was a citizen who gave much of his time and ability to questions of public interest and was a strong factor in the upbuilding of the city. In respect to his memory, no session was held by the charter convention, and the officers of the United States Reduction and Refining company, of which he was at one time president, were closed during the afternoon.

Postoffice Employes to Be Rated According to Their Ability. Rules Are Strict.

Colorado Springs postoffice officials have received circulars from the postoffice department at Washington explaining at length the new system of grading for the rating of clerks, carriers and other employes. The system provides that a strict record shall be kept of all violations of rules or failures to meet requirements, and that such shortcomings shall be punished by demerits, the number being governed by the nature of the offense.

The accumulation of 500 demerits in one year will bring a reduction in rank. Various classes of employes, such as distributing clerks, are required to pass annual examinations under the revived system, and must make an average of 95 per cent to hold their positions.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weaknesses and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional indorsement of each of its several ingredients—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

FRANKLIN CARS

The Finest on the Market.

The H. H. Franklin Mfg. Co., of Syracuse, N. Y., have for the coming season one of the most complete lines of automobiles on the market, consisting of runabouts, touring cars, broughams, landaulets, limousines, town-cars and motor-cabs fitted with motors of three different ratings, or 18, 28 and 42 H. P., the cars ranging in capacity from 2 to 7 passengers. The 18 and 28 H. P. motors are of the four cylinder type, the 42 being the six cylinder engine. As in seasons past, the motors are of the air-cooled type. The 18 H. P. motor used on the G Models has a 3 3-8 bore and 4-inch stroke, being slower in its running and fitted with a front air fan, gives it added ability. The other motors have cylinders 4 1-4 inches by 4 inches, and are also fitted with an air fan.

Concentric, or common center, valves and dome head cylinders are used on all motors, making possible the entrance of a greater gas charge than with the ordinary style of valve and flat head cylinder, this construction giving increased power and cooling ability.

Through perfection of the carburetor, it has been found possible to abandon the governor on all models. An auxiliary exhaust is placed at the bottom of each cylinder and expels 71 per cent of the burnt gases immediately upon completion of the power stroke; the remaining gases passing out through the main exhaust does not enter the muffler, therefore obviating back pressure. This device, while not being new, is essential to the satisfactory working of coming season's models.

The oil baffle plate is another feature of the Franklin motors that is important in their perfect oiling system. This plate causes the oil to be regularly sprayed on the pistons instead of being haphazardly splashed. All models are equipped with gear driven front air fans as well as suction air fans in the fly wheels. The valve springs are made of Vanadium steel.

No change has been made in the carburetor construction, but through a change in its body position, better results are obtained on hills. A heat accumulator encircles the auxiliary exhaust pipe from which warm air is carried to the carburetor, adding greatly to its efficiency.

Ignition on all models is by Bosch high tension magneto, which simplifies the system and does away with the timer and the possibility of troubles from this source. The model G has set spark advanced, while on the H the operation of the magneto is controlled by a governor. A multiple disc clutch composed of phosphor bronze and steel discs alternated operating in an oil bath with the entire absence of grabbing and similar in construction to that of last year, has been adopted this season.

There are two styles of gear change used, both of which are very simple in their operation, that on the model G being of the self-finding type. The other models are equipped with the Frenchy selective type. This, however, is quicker in its operation than that ordinarily used, several of the usual complications having been overcome.

The wheels on model G have been increased to 32 inches and those on the H to 36 inches. The H also has detach wheels. All models have auxiliary gasoline tanks automatically filled and closed at the time of filling the regular tank.

The finish of all models except the runabouts, is royal blue, the runabouts being finished with red body and black gear and guards. Throughout the entire line there is a refinement of details, great care having been given to all features of construction, design and finish. All models are light but strong for their horsepower. A very complete description of the cars is given in the catalogue just issued by the Franklin company.

BULLDOG INTRODUCES BRIDE.

Acted as Master of Ceremonies at Clergyman's Reception.

Trenton Dispatch to the New York World.

Bruce, Mrs. John Wellington Hoag's pet bulldog, appointed himself master of ceremonies at a delightful function Sunday night, and performed his part with admirable self-restraint and politeness.

Bruce headed a committee of members of the First Baptist church who received their pastor, the Rev. Mr. Hoag and his bride. Bruce literally introduced the committeemen to the bride, and smoothed the difficulties out of what would have been an awkward five minutes.

The Rev. Mr. Hoag went to La Crosse, Wis., to marry a few days ago. At the same time his prospective bride sent Bruce to Trenton. With Bruce at their head, the committee assembled at the Clinton street station of the Pennsylvania railroad last night.

The committeemen, of course, had never seen the bride, and are but slightly acquainted with the bridegroom, as the clergyman came to his charge here only a few weeks ago. It was up to the dog to make sure that the committee welcomed the right couple.

Bruce was right on the job, and although the committeemen could not tell him of their mission and his duties, they were amazed to see the wise bulldog jump on a train whose wheels were still turning as it halted at the station.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoag and Bruce got off the train. The dog, tugging at the smiling bride's gown, led her to the committeemen. Then Bruce pulled the committeemen's trouser legs, saying, as plainly as a dog can say, "This is my dearly loved owner; permit me to introduce her to you."

The clergyman and his wife received the whole congregation at the parsonage. Throughout it Bruce stood at Mrs. Hoag's side, showing his fine white teeth in a wide, happy smile, and remarking again very plainly:

"This is the bride, and I'm here to protect her from you, if need be."

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

From the New York Press.

The basis of a woman's faith in anybody is how much unhappier she would be without it.

The man who becomes famous usually does so through the efforts of others to prove that he isn't.

A woman can generally manage to get furs for a Christmas present if she has to give them to herself.

One of the meanest tricks you can play on a man is to act as if he's too respectable to be invited to come along with you and enjoy himself.

There's hardly a man who doesn't like to pretend when he goes to a restaurant that he's so well known there they always try to do something special for him.

Refuse another's burden and you lose your own blessing.

Harry Woodthorpe the lightning change artist, impersonating some of America's greatest men, is proving a decided hit with the people. Mr Woodthorpe is a top-notcher in this line of business and is known for his ability in many states.

Frank Milton and the De Long sisters in their musical comedy sketch boiled down for vaudeville entitled, "A South Dakota Divorce Lawyer" is by far the best act of the kind on the vaudeville stage. Mr Milton taking the part of the lawyer, is assisted in his act by the De Long sisters two very capable women. Last evening the house was packed for both shows and at each Mr Milton and the De Long sisters were compelled to take several encores.

The illustrated song, "Kiss Me Dearie," sung by Miss Sara May, is another item of the bill that needs mentioning as does the last set of moving pictures entitled The Black Viper. This is one that when once you see it you can never forget it.

Yesterday was ladies souvenir day and, as usual, the house was packed, the next regular souvenir day is Friday afternoon. Complete change of program Thursday afternoon.

"THE WRONG BURGLAR," AT THE CRYSTAL

John Wants to show his wife that he is a real hero. He writes to his friend to come dressed as a burglar. He then will turn him out of the house and show his wife that he is not afraid of anybody. He writes to him that he will leave the windows open so he can enter through the window. While going out of the room to get an envelope the wife enters and reads the letter. She leaves the room as unseen as she entered. The husband sends the letter but unfortunately the recipient is not at home. A real burglar coming along and finding the window open enters the room. The wife thinking that this is her husband's friend offers him lunch and wine. The burglar certainly enjoys the hospitality. The wife exits. The husband enters. Seeing the burglar he too, takes him for his friend. He tells the burglar to put the pistol aside and offers him some cigars and helps him to pack up the silverware etc. The burglar never has a cinch like that, and heavily laden he leaves the house, promising to accept the invitation to call again. The friend has returned to his home where he finds the message. He dresses as a burglar and departs for his friend's home. The real burglar in the meantime broke into other houses and carried away whatever was not nailed down. The neighbors congregated and started a vigilance committee to catch the burglar. The friendly burglar arrives. The neighbors capture him and beat him unmercifully before he can make known his identity. He never plays burglar again.

DR. CARL HERRMANN IS MAKING HIT AT MAJESTIC

Dr Carl Hermann at the Majestic is a many-sided man. His cures of crippled children by the use of electricity is written in the history of medical practice both in this country and in Europe but his chief claim to popularity this week is for the entertainment he gives upon the stage of the Majestic theater. Every artist in vaudeville strives for laughs for they are measured by that standard both by the public and management. Herrmann is the envy of every comedian on the stage for no other man of his time has so set an entire audience in such continued bursts of spontaneous hilarity as does this man. Everything he does is interesting. His appearance is impressive and his lecture upon the harnessed fluid as well as his experiments with the apparatus focuses the interested attention of everybody. Last night he had a batch of new subjects upon which he turned the electric current much to the edification of the audience. There were several young men who had determined to show Herrmann that they could not be compelled to go through the comical gyrations to which he had subjected others, but in the end the young men did about as the wizard pleased.

The clever Tolch sisters with their expert marksmanship while treading a slender silver wire is the novelty that is pleasing the patrons of the Majestic this week.

should a fire ever gain headway there it would be more disastrous. If these plans are carried out the apparatus will not be for use in case of a fire at the ice plant alone, but will be used, and the volunteer crew will respond to any alarm of fire in that part of the city.

LAST INSURANCE HAS BEEN PAID ON FIRE LOSS

The last insurance payment on property destroyed in the three big fires which have occurred within the last two months was made yesterday when the sum of $4,000 was paid over to the Beery firm of Ridenour & Rettiger by the Springfield, the London Assurance and the German Assurance companies. The payment was made through the firm of Kinsman & Wolff.

The debris that was left from the burned stable has practically been cleared away and the firm is making preparations to erect a new building 30 feet by 190 feet in dimensions.

WANTS TO KNOW WHEN BRICK IS UPSIDE DOWN

When is a brick upside down?

This is a riddle which Simon Kranz is reported to have attempted to solve yesterday. Mr Kranz is erecting a building on the site of the burned district on Colorado avenue and is said to have been thrown into consternation yesterday when some one told him that the bricks were being laid upside down. It was reported about town that Mr Kranz immediately hunted up the contractor and ascertained whether or not this was the case.

MAY ERECT BUILDING ON SITE OF RECENT FIRE

It was rumored yesterday that a woman by the name of White who lives in Pueblo and who held mortgages on the Mansions and El Paso two of the resorts which burned in the recent red-light fire probably will erect on the site of the burned district a six-room brick building. The report could not be verified.

ASH PIT CAMPAIGN IS BEING VIGOROUSLY WAGED

There was no relaxation yesterday in the ash pit campaign that is being carried on by the police and the city council. Many notices to build better ash pits and to clean up ash pits and alleys were served. A number of the places that were visited last Monday and at which notices were then served were much altered yesterday when inspected for the second time. Councilman J B Sims personally assisted Chief of Police Wolfe in the work yesterday.

MUCH BUILDING UNDER WAY IN THE CITY

Colorado Springs Capital Coming in at Rapid Rate—Improvements All Over Town

That the building boom which was predicted before the holidays has come is evidenced by the fact that more building is being done in the city than has been under way at any one time for months.

The ... and Kranz buildings which ... by the ... fire on Colorado avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets are now well under way. A large force of men is at work and the builders expect to have them completed within a short time.

A new front is being put in the store building at 430 Colorado avenue which formerly was occupied by Bell & Son. A two-story residence is being erected by A. W. Clark on Lincoln avenue between Third and Fourth streets. Walter F Meyers is building two cottages near the corner of Second street and Jefferson avenue. A new house is under course of construction at First street and Sheldon avenue. J. P. Bates who resides on Colorado avenue between Third and Fourth streets is building an addition to his house. Thomas Milton is building on East Lincoln avenue. Numerous other proposed residences and business blocks are under consideration. Much city property also has changed hands recently.

"It seems to me" said J. B. Sims, a member of the city council yesterday "that it is a good sign when Colorado Springs investors begin to buy property here. Within a short time I believe about 30 days one Colorado Springs man has purchased two of our largest buildings. This is J. W. Atkins a capitalist. I understand that he has bought the Reed building, occupied by the Minium Furniture and Undertaking company and the building at 430 Colorado avenue which now is being remodeled.

OFFERS TO ERECT A HOSE HOUSE FOR CITY

George F. Geiger Wants to See Efficiency of Fire Department Increased—Takes Proposition.

One of the most important matters which will come before the City Council when it meets next Monday night is the question of strengthening and increasing the efficiency of the fire department. The subject has been one of vital interest to Colorado City ever since the first of the three recent bad fires occurred.

George Geiger general manager of the Colorado City Ice and Fuel company whose plant is at the corner of Fifth street and Washington avenue, has declared that if the city will equip it with one of the two-hand hose carts which are now at fire department headquarters he will construct a hose house near the ice plant at his own expense. He also has signified his willingness if this contract is entered into, to organize a volunteer fire-fighting crew among the employes at the ice plant which shall be regularly trained in order that the greatest ... efficiency may be attained.

"Girl" of 70 Said to Have Liked Flattery and Candy.

Philadelphia Dispatch to the New York World.

That a woman past threescore and ten was willing to give a man $2,000 when he put his arms about her neck, called her his "darling little girl," and gave her candy was part of the testimony in a will case in the register's court.

Mrs Amanda Clemens left an estate valued at $100,000. Relatives made the contest because her will contained a bequest of $10,000 to her caretaker, C. Frederick Herman.

Charles W. Bolton was called to substantiate testimony that Mrs. Clemens was eccentric. "How did Mrs Clemens treat you when you went to her house?" he was asked.

"Royally" was the reply. "She generally sat on my lap and put her arms around my neck. Then she would say, 'Mr. Bolton you are the only friend I have on earth, but remember, mum, mum, mum.'"

"Mrs Clemens was influenced easily by masculine flattery," continued the witness. "On one occasion when a man named Patterson was trying to induce her to invest $2,500 in a hook and eye venture, Patterson put one arm around her neck and called her 'my darling little girl' at the same time feeding her candy with the other hand. Patterson's wife was present at the time. Mrs. Clemens gave Patterson $2,000 for stock in the new venture, which was not successful."

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE "BLOCK-HOUSE"

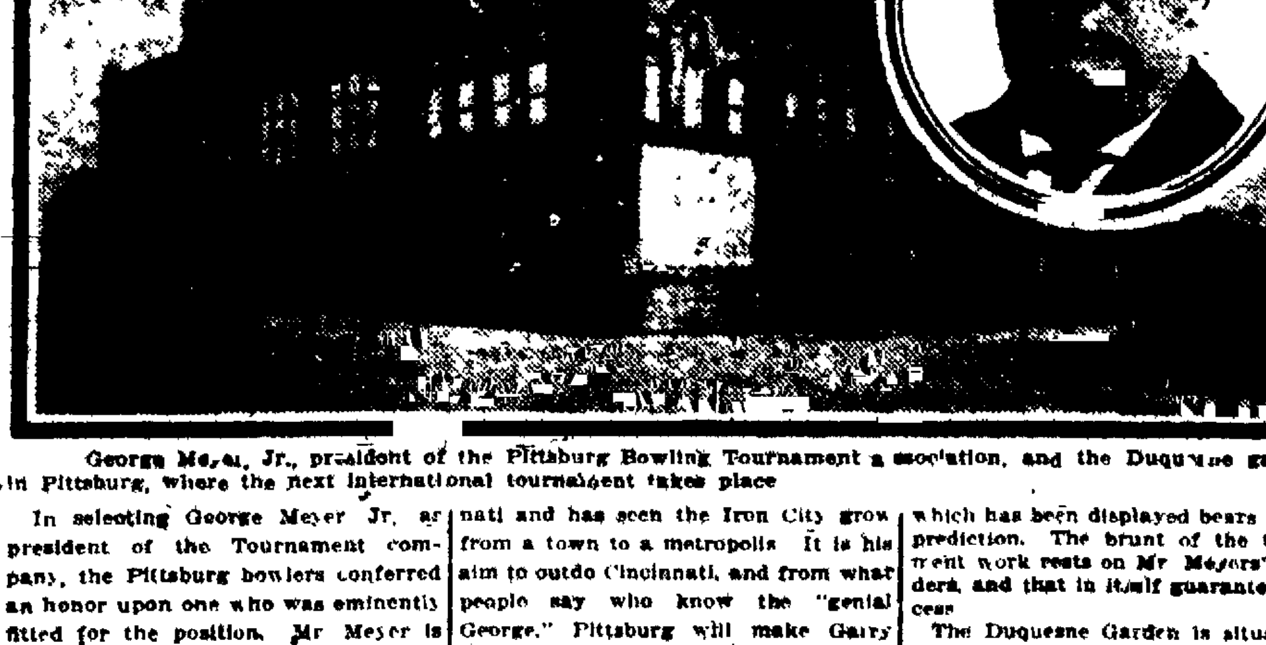

From the New York World.

A foreign observer, Mrs. C. M. Williamson, recently found in New York evidences of beauty suggestive of Venice. What particularly impressed Professor Ferrero is the "barbaric hugeness" of the city and its "architectural blasphemy," solemn styles of old religious architecture being adapted to the profane uses of business. He notes the incongruity of vaulted cathedral roofs covering dining halls, banks, and shops wearing, the august crown which Agrippa and Michaelangelo placed upon two of the most sacred edifices of Europe," and vaudeville theaters masquerading as Moorish mosques.

NEXT BOWLING TOURNAMENT WILL BE HELD IN PITTSBURG

George Meyer, Jr., president of the Pittsburg Bowling Tournament association, and the Duquesne garden in Pittsburg, where the next international tournament takes place

In selecting George Meyer Jr. as president of the Tournament company, the Pittsburg bowlers conferred an honor upon one who was eminently fitted for the position. Mr Meyer is in Pittsburg to the bowler what Garry Herrman represents in Cincinnati. Garry certainly placed the Queen City on the bowling map, and George Meyer will do the same for Pittsburg. "Cincinnati is my home" says Mr Meyer, and it is apparent that Cincinnati is the spot where bowling promoters are brought up. About 25 years ago Mr Meyer came to Pittsburg from Cincinnati and has seen the Iron City grow from a town to a metropolis. It is his aim to outdo Cincinnati, and from what people say who know the "genial George," Pittsburg will make Garry Herrman and his Beer City boys look to their laurels as entertainers and promoters of tournaments. Mr. Meyer does not hesitate to say the ninth international tournament of the American bowling congress will be the biggest and best ever. At Cincinnati last year they had 362 five-men teams, while Pittsburg looks for 450 five-men teams, and the general interest and enthusiasm which has been displayed bears out the prediction. The brunt of the tournament work rests on Mr Meyers' shoulders, and that in itself guarantees success.

The Duquesne Garden is situated in the best residence district of Pittsburg, about 20 minutes' ride on 12 street car lines which pass within two blocks or directly by the garden from the downtown district. It is in fact, the auditorium of Greater Pittsburg and is used for such purposes as conventions, receptions, automobile shows, horse shows and other meetings of this character.

What Press Agents Say

KATHARINE GOODSON

Katharine Goodson the English pianist whose appearance here at Perkins hall Thursday January 28 has aroused unusual interest has had some interesting experiences in the course of her career. While in London last season she was invited to a dinner given by some friends of hers to meet the president of Liberia and his suite who were paying a visit to the English capital. The president who is a very cultured man and very fond of music was delighted when Miss Goodson offered to play for him. When she had finished after thanking her very warmly he spoke for a moment with the hostess who had just presented Miss Goodson with a magnificent wreath. She disappeared, returning in a minute with the Liberian flag made in the choicest flowers which had been the center of the floral decorations at the dinner. This she handed to the president who in the speech of a true courtier offered it to Miss Goodson as a token of his thanks and appreciation. It was taken home and placed among the many other similar interesting trophies in Miss Goodson's music room.

"IN WYOMING," COMING

"In Wyoming, which comes to the Opera House Saturday matinee and night is not a melodrama as one might be led to suppose but a striking story of Wyoming ranch life by Willard Mack with some tremendously strong situations and a splendid western atmosphere. The hero is a veritable young Lochinvar and his success in both life and love makes a stirring and vital play. H. E. Pierce & Co. who are presenting the piece, have spared no expense in assembling a cast of considerable strength and the scenic equipment is said to be entirely adequate. Special bargain matinee.

"SIS HOPKINS"

One of the oddest characters on the stage today is that of Obadiah the undertaker's assistant in Sis Hopkins which comes to the Opera House tomorrow evening. Obadiah is a cunning sort of a rustic type whose one idea in life is to get ready for prospective victims. He goes about with a tape measure and dreams of death and disaster. The gossip which tells him of the illness of the oldest inhabitant or the ailments of the countryside people, brings joy to his soul and he keeps track of what the village physician is doing. He wears the most funereal garment and yet he is funny. Not content with merely being a general calamity howler he prepares the epitaphs for his neighbors and their recitation is one of the brightest laughing spots in the play. Obadiah is one of the cleverest character studies on the stage today. This is Miss Melville's tenth season as Sis Hopkins. The old Posey county girl who wears funny little red celluloid side combs, gingham pinafore, striped stockings the like of which have not been seen in more than a decade and those curious gaiters, which were the fashion in the late seventies and the early eighties. She also wears her hair in two tight little pigtails. Seats now on sale. Prices, 50, 75, $1.00 and $1.50.

Springs

If the half-elliptic springs on your touring-car were each seven feet long they would have, on good roads, about the same riding qualities as the 40-inch full-elliptic springs on the Franklin. On rough roads they would not do so well, for half-elliptic springs absorb perpendicular shocks only, whereas the full-elliptic springs on the Franklin take up the road shocks from every direction.

If you want full riding comfort, and you do, you will look carefully into the spring question.

There is a Franklin for every use—four- and six-cylinder touring-cars, runabouts, closed cars and commercial vehicles.

BEN HARRISON CLAIM BLOCKED FOR LEASING

Trilby Mines Company Has Five Blocks Ready to Be Let to Lessees.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan 26.—At a recent meeting of the directors of the Trilby Mines company, it was determined to block out the Ben Harrison lode mining claim for leasing purposes and this work has been completed. Five leasing blocks 300 feet square have been surveyed off, and applications for leases thereon will be received by Manager James T. Stewart at his offices in this city up to February 1. A meeting of the Trilby Mines company directors will be held early in February, on the return of President L. K. Mearkle from the east, when these applications will be acted upon and leases granted. The terms will be liberal, with graded royalties ranging from 15 per cent and upwards for the higher grades of ore. The lessees will be restricted to a depth of 500 feet will be required to operate from surface by shaft, as the company will continue operations below this depth from its main shaft on the Trilby claim adjoining. The production from the deep workings of the mine for the present month will amount to from 35 to 40 cars of a good average grade of ore. The Ben Harrison is surrounded by such well known producers as the Cresson, Dante, Gold Sovereign, Blue Bird and Trail mine of the United Gold Mines company, and is considered desirable territory by lease operators.

EXPECT RAPID WORK ON DRAINAGE TUNNEL

A Quartz Vein Three to Four Feet Wide Between Walls Will Aid Drillers.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 26.—A strong vein of quartz from three to four feet between granite walls has been cut at the portal heading of the deep drainage tunnel, and should the lead hold its present course almost parallel to the line of the bore will permit of greater daily gain, and more rapid progress. The quartz, however, carries little evidence of mineralization and bears a glassy appearance.

Frank Watt and associates leasing on the Accident mine on Gold hill, owned by A. McDougall of Brooklyn, N. Y., have cut the northern extension of the Gold Bond vein and with it a promising ore shoot. The vein, new to the Accident, was encountered by crosscut from the 185-foot level through ground hitherto undeveloped, or even prospected.

The ore body is fully four feet wide and an assay taken across the face of the vein gave values of $35 a ton. The hill has a steep slope at the point where the vein was encountered and not less than 200 feet in depth will be available for stoping purposes, if the new shoot holds to surface. The lessees are installing an electric hoist and will shortly commence shipping.

Three machine drills are being used by Superintendent Alfred La Montainge of the School Section Leasing company in prospect work on adjoining blocks to Block 8 of school section 16, and three distinct crosscuts are being carried through this ground from the deep levels of the main shaft. The Maloney vein of the Isabella Mines company is known to extend through this ground and it should be encountered with a few more feet of crosscutting.

WHEAT CLOSES WEAK AFTER SLUGGISH DAY

Absence of Export Demand Chief Cause For Selling Pressure. Decrease Visible Supply.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—With the exception of moderate firmness the first few minutes of the session in the wheat market was bearishly inclined all day and the weakness became pronounced in the final half hour. The close was weak and only a trifle above the lowest point with May at $1.06¼ and July at 96⅝@¾.

Several leading commission houses were free sellers nearly all day and there was also active selling.

The chief reasons for the selling pressure were an almost entire absence of export demand, clearances of only 30,000 bushels of wheat, a considerable increase in primary receipts and additional recommendations last night in the Ohio and Mississippi river valleys. The early firmness was due mainly to the strength of European grain markets. The world's visible supply decreased 1,900,000 bushels the past week compared with an increase of 1,942,000 bushels the corresponding week a year ago. The feature of trade in the corn market was the reported purchase of more than 1,000,000 bushels of the May delivery by a leading commission house which was said to have been short a long line of corn. The effect of this buying was the cause of decided strength in the market.

The price of cash corn at the sample tables was up ¼ to ½. The market closed firm at prices ⅛@¼ higher with May at 62½@⅝ and July at 62¼.

There was a good general trade in oats and the market exhibited considerable strength. Final quotations were unchanged to a shade higher compared with the previous close, May closing at 51⅞ and July at 46½. Provisions were weakened by liberal realizing sales, final quotations showing net declines of 2½@5 to 45c.

Pork displayed the greatest weakness. A large part of the selling was credited to the grain firm which supported the corn market, although a Milwaukee packer was said to have sold freely of lard ribs early in the day.

STOCKS IN MAIN AT STAGNATION POINT

Occasional Spurts of Moderate Activity Only Aggravates Prevailing Dullness.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The special influence which governed the wide movement in a handful of stocks today were conflicting in their effect on the general list, or more properly, had a neutralizing effect which aggravated the dullness of the trading. Dealings were at the point of stagnation between the occasional spurts of moderate activity.

The most influential movement in its general effect was that in Consolidated gas, in which a renewal of liquidation was prompted by the publication of the annual report and the pessimistic opinion expressed in official utterances accompanying it, of the earning power of the company under the legal restriction to 80 cents, the price of gas. The price of the stock dropped precipitately over nine points to a lower level than was touched in the slump following the decision of the supreme court against the company. The desire to await the appearance of the quarterly report of the United States Steel corporation was a factor in the latter dullness. It was known that this report would not appear until after the close of the stock market, and the fear that it might contain some unpleasant surprises made operators wary about extending their commitments. Railroad deal rumors showed vitality and furnished the principal points of strength in the market.

The resumption of dividends at a 5 per cent rate by the North American company would have incited to some buying of stocks in a more favorable state of the speculative temper.

And as it was, it fell flat along with other developments of the day. Money continued to work easier in this market but London was somewhat sensitive to a suggestion of renewed inquiry for gold there on behalf of Paris.

Foreign markets are uneasy over the Balkan situation and there was a balance of sales over purchases of stocks for London account in New York.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $5,043,000. United States bonds were quiet.

EFFORT TO PURIFY KENTUCKY.

Lexington (Ky.) Dispatch to the New York Tribune.

A call has been issued from Jackson for a great mass meeting of delegates from 42 counties to purify eastern Kentucky. The meeting will be held at Jackson early in May.

The general situation in that part of the state will be discussed and plans put forth for the stamping out of lawless cases, including operating of "blind tiger" saloons. Mass meetings will be held first in each of the counties and delegates selected for the big meeting. This will be the first time in the history of Kentucky that this methods of stopping lawlessness has been tried. The recent Callahan-Deaton feud outbreak is a strong underlying cause for the move.

In New Zealand the native Polynesian race, crowded by Europeans, is becoming extinct. Many of the imported animals run wild and multiply rapidly at the expense of the native species, even the streams being filled with European and American trout, which grow to great size.

Corn salad is found wild throughout Europe, Asia Minor and Japan.

Slow and Sure

Is the motto of those who know the folly of running after "get rich quick" schemes, which are always speculative and often worse. They lead to the neglect of legitimate business and are largely responsible for much of the existing misery and crime. How much better, then, is the strict avoidance of such things and the seeking of investments which, while reasonably profitable, are entirely safe and secure. In this connection the savings plans of THE ASSURANCE SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION are worthy of examination.

In the Congo the extravagance of the average white man is astounding. Champagne is the invariable order of the day for men getting a few hundred dollars a year, and the official usually lands in Antwerp after three years with enough money for a spree, when he must sign and go back.

NEW MINK SET IN STRIPED EFFECT.

There is a fancy this year for arranging dark mink skins in adjoining stripes, making a decided stripe effect in the garment. On some of the new muffs rows of tiny animal heads emphasize this appearance of striping, and this smart muff has not only five small heads, but tails and paws in correspondingly generous proportions. The collar of mink is very rich in its striped effect. With this fur set is worn a ribbon-trimmed turban, which hints at the coming Paris favor for very small and coquettish headgear.

Although there over a million specimens of insects in the British Museum, scientists say the largest part of the insect world has not yet been discovered or named.

IF YOU ARE GOING TO BUY
This property if you take the time to look at it. It is a five-room and hall thoroughly modern, full basement, built by the owner for a home and built on honor. THIS MAN KNEW NOTHING about slighting, either in workmanship or material, and made the property one that is thoroughly desirable in every respect, but now is forced to sell, and while it is cheap, at his price, $4,000, yet he has told us to submit any offer that we can get for a quick sale. If you haven't the cash please do not take up our time as it must be cash over the counter on this proposition. It is splendidly located on Washington Ave., not far out. Let us ... you this property bright and early this morning.
